Delay Impersonator Charge Hearing

LOWELL — The question of whether “Manny” Diaz, local night club entertainer-emcee, is officially a “female impersonator” was postponed by the license commission last night for another week.

A week ago the entertainer appeared before the commission with his attorney to ask that the label be stricken from his records so that he might go back to work. Female impersonation is unlawful here as an art form or an entertainment medium.

Diaz, who argued before the commission last week that he is not and never has been a female impersonator, has been forced from two Greater-Lowell night spot entertainment jobs because of the official stigma of the term.

Diaz will be heard before the commission June 15.

Business of a minor nature was transacted last night in a short meeting of Commissioners Robert J. Lewis, William F. Barrett and Willis J. Peltier.

CARELESS WITH MONEY

FLAT ROCK, Mich. (UP) — State police were curious when they looked in the glove compartment of an unlocked parked car and found $7760 in cash and $2200 in bonds. They traced the car to construction worker, Joseph J. Seaman, who explained he had “just left” his life savings behind while he went to work.

Boulder, Colo., 25 miles northwest of Denver, is 5350 feet high.