PHI PSI HOUSE PARTY

By Edna C. Ingalls

It was at the Mullins House on Friday, Feb. 6th, the young men of the Phi Psi Fraternity had a social party in honor of a number of girls who were visiting the city during the week-end. The party was one of the most delightful of the season and the guests were in every way well entertained.

WHAT THE LOWELL TEXTILE SCHOOL IS MOST

Mrs. Frederick C. T. Patten, Director of the Textile School, Lowell, Mass., states that the Lowell Textile School is the only one in the world that has the advantage of being located within the heart of the textile manufacturing region. The school has been in operation for over 50 years. It is well equipped with modern machinery and laboratories. The courses offered include weaving, knitting, printing, and dyeing. The school is also affiliated with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and students are encouraged to take courses there as well. The faculty is comprised of experienced textile industry professionals.

FIVE WON—FOUR LOST

The Lowell Textile School, under the leadership of Dean J. A. White, has been a leader in the field of textile education for many years. The school offers a variety of programs in textiles, including weaving, knitting, printing, and dyeing. The faculty is comprised of experienced industry professionals, and the school is associated with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

ILLINOIS ENGINEER TELLS OF TEST ROAD

The Illinois Director of Roads, Mr. John H. Jones, was in town last week to give a talk on the new test road which is being built on the outskirts of town. The road is being built with the latest in road-building techniques, and the Illinois Engineer is excited to see the results. He predicts that the road will be a model for other states to follow.
