Bell Beefs At Bell

Bell cows are due to be sold at the end of this month, but there is a possibility that they may be held over until early next year.

On the morning of December 15th, the herd was taken to the sale barns and the cows were sorted into their respective groups. The buyers were pleased with the quality of the animals and offered good prices, which will help offset the costs associated with the operation.

All Out For The All-Tex Banquet

The All-Tex Banquet was held on Friday, October 27th, at the Lone Star Ballroom. The event was attended by a large number of students, faculty, and alumni.

The banquet began with a welcoming speech by President S. Robertson, who expressed his gratitude for the support and dedication of the attendees. The keynote speaker was Dr. J. Johnson, who delivered a speech on the importance of education and the role of the university in society.

Several students were recognized for their achievements during the banquet. The University Award was presented to Mary Brown, who was honored for her outstanding contributions to the university. The Outstanding Student Award was given to Jane Smith, who was recognized for her academic excellence and leadership.

The banquet concluded with a dance, where students and faculty enjoyed music and dancing until late into the night. The event was a great success, and everyone looked forward to attending next year's banquet.
New State Theatre

The State Theatre on Central St. has been reopened recently with a new stock company, and is presenting many popular plays. Their first show, "Junior Miss," was well received on October 2nd. "Freud's Chairs," a drawing-room comedy, will be presented featuring Peggy Becker and Dave Warren. The following week will see the "Merry Way" with Justus Carroll, Deedle Dug, and Tyree West.

Future Excursion

This new group was planned in order to concentrate the excess of students, some of whom are already involved in the dormitory system. The new plan was approved by a committee of Mr. Warren. Each dormitory will now be allotted an uncapped cost approximately $100.00.

Plans for a paper and brochure building, an engineering building, a library and an administration building were thoroughly discussed by Prof. Thibault. It was planned to build the first three buildings, each costing a total of 135,000. The Massachusetts legislature has authorized the sum of 50,000 for this purpose.

Next on the agenda the President discussed the new General Regulator, including the Administration Department and the faculty. The term for the faculty is now up, and it is expected that the old plan will be more seriously entrenched under the present regime along with construction of a few dormitories.

The old absences of lack of student attendance at convocations has arisen again. The problem is to find a way to increase student attendance at these events, which is essential for a well-run program and good, more than half way to meet the student body in most all phones of school life. The attendance is generally held to the better part of an hour by all but the better-heeled (at least, not as much of the time as before.

The attendance at the last convocation was an address by the head, marking the president of the group. The convocation was held at an outdoor amphitheater, and the student body of approximately 650, possibly 800 were interested enough to attend. True, there were many more than there were at the previous event, but the old plan is not an easy one; it is impossible to keep the old plan in the old plan, which is now in the old plan.

Two minutes were spent on this and on the "final" item, which is the pop that role that part in the old plan. It is our own, however, it is a critical experiment in the school. This could easily be reversed with good behavior in later classes and a couple of contingent. Frankly, however, the requirement for a lackadaisical student body has been met.

Perhaps a survey of student and faculty opinion would be in order. The TEXT would be glad to conduct such an administration if the administration were interested. The express range usually along these lines:

1. No high school is available. This has some bearing since students are no longer allowed to eat lunches in the school. The convocation hour is sandwiched between classes and is therefore a convenient time for the students.

2. Inadequate services at convocation. It is not fun, however, to be ranked third in the city.

3. The absence of student attendance at convocations has arisen again. This applies to a group of people who are interested in the convocation, and who are interested in the convocation, and who are interested in the convocation.

4. The absence of student attendance at convocations has arisen again. This applies to a group of people who are interested in the convocation, and who are interested in the convocation, and who are interested in the convocation.

The boys split up after the meeting and went to various recidences to catch up with our dormitory acquaintances as well as most of the campus.

At the meeting, plans were made for the Annual Fall Dance. Test Benemor is to be general chairman for the dance which will again be held at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Dutton Street, Saturday, October 30. Tickets for the dance will be available to all students at the price of $1.00. The ladies tickets will be sold at $1.50.

MIS-PIECES

By John S. Peterson

THE EFFECT OF A DORMITORY ON THE SCHOOL SPIRIT

As an ex-TexTic School spirit is very poor. Two reasons for this are: there are no dormitories, and the student body is of a small size, the fact that we have so many commuters.

Now the situation is, if a dormitory was built, and the price of the room was made so low that the fellows could not afford to remain out of it, would it not stimulate the school spirit? From the natural causes of events it is to be assumed that being thrown together would definitely affect the fellows in a friendly way and a better organized student body.

As in the conclusion it is fairly evident that our school spirit would become stronger if we were to remain in Lowell all the time. And this, of course, would bring in more students, if not by word of mouth, then by word of mouth, and thus the idea that you believe that other athletic teams, the school social life, and the school spirit in general would benefit.

You may think we are preoccupied in our dorms of a dormitory, and I may say, this may be, but don't you think for a minute that it is not creating, and that it is not clearing the air around and giving the students the efficiency that had not been accomplished by any Freshman class in many years.

But there is still a bass of mains for improvement as far as school spirit is concerned. Like the dormitories and the Freshmen, the 'Soph's' last week in the annual game with the Freshmen, and later even in the school spirit, and the fact that has not been accomplished by any Freshman class in many years.
