Textile Industry Short Of Personnel

New York—Textile industry is common with all industry bidding that the critical situation of this industry prevailing to carry out its constantly increasing research activities, it was stated at the annual meeting of the Textile Research Institute held here last week.

Kenneth R. Fein, executive director for Eastman Mills Corp., told the meeting that because of the general situation, colleges and universities were to enter renovate schools to serve today’s demand for 30,000 engineers. If present draft policies prevail in 1954, only 600 new engineers and scholars will be available that year.

It was 15 years ago that industrial research and development have increased nearly 100 per cent. Government research has been set up, the number of scientists and engineers in this country has increased.

Textile colleges currently have about 4000 students and expect to have about 100 this year. The demand for these men far exceeded the supply, and it has been estimated that four times this number could have been available. These colleges or only warrants the vital support and encourageament they are getting from industry. The need is not an absolute crisis but an urgent necess-y.

Mr. Fein in the course of his address said there never was and never will be an all-purpose fiber, but as there is no all-purpose metal, so there is no all-purpose fiber. In one type fabric, high strength and low strength may be required, and in another high stretch and a minimum strain may be all that is required.

R.O.T.C. Band Plays At Golden Gloves

On February 5, at the Lowell Memarial Auditorium, the band of the U. S. Army's 15th Infantry was scheduled to appear in a boxing performance. The occasion was the semi-finals of the Golden Gloves contest. One of the students who appeared that night was Lt. Charles E. Jones. The band was well represented, most of the numbers turning out in fine weather. The audience was enter tained by a performance of boxing events and under- timetables, and after the ringside, with a few classical rearrangements also being played. While not playing the band members gave their full attention to the pantomime, but not without some difficulties.

Berton Pette, who is a mel-clown of the boxing world, gave his hardy and enthusiastic comperers, a little hard to follow at times.

This was the only first of many planned affairs which will be attended by the band. The first appearance was very successful and all members also played. Mr. H. W. Brooks, a well-known clown, who was the first to appear.

Textile Players Select Show

"The Textile Players have selected the show, 'You Can't Take It With You.' As of the present, the date has not been selected. The method of the play has been kept secret for the show, and the publicity committee has been secreted about the show.

Along with the announcement of the play, a new contest context made public. The winner of the contest will win the prize of a first national film. At present, the contest is open to all students. The rule is soon to be printed.

Brotherhood is now ready for the show, and the publicity committee has been secreted about the show.

Bookstore Changes Policy

1—Feb 3—There is a new policy at the Lowell Textile Institute Bookstore. As of February 1, 1952, the discount rate has been reduced to 35%. This is a definite decrease from the normal 50%. The reason for the change is due to an increase in the price of the book. The change is now in effect. The "Can you take it with you" show has won up many times more than the 10% decrease in income.
EDITORIAL

A very common practice when a new editor is elected is for him to write an editorial introducing himself and outlining his plans for his administration. However, an attempt at such a project would not be in the best interests of anyone at this time. Last October, President Lydon writing the letter that the student body, those who were interested in vacating their rooms for the occasion were perhaps entirely in favor of the idea for such a project. The President's column, "Let us clean up any doubts about this. He assured the group that it would be to the advantage of the LL,T. L to play host to the wool men. The importance of raising the quality of the training. Those who receive wool will be in favor of the graduate's who will apply to college. As far as any advantages received by the Institute as a whole, we shall have to sit back and see what happens.

Faculty Advisors

The announcement by the Dean of Students that all organization must have a faculty advisor did not impress any hardships upon any student group. Most societies have had the assistance of a member of the faculty since the time of their founding. Those not included are the Fraternity of the majority of the fraternities on campus have won their ranks men who are now on the faculty of L T L. I doubt that rejection of faculty advisor will be from among these.

The purpose of having a faculty advisor is to act as an intermediary between the faculty and the fraternity. This will result in a better understanding by the faculty of the situations facing by the fraternities when certain actions are taken. It will create a better understanding of problems facing by the faculty and the fraternity. Without this, all resolutions and proceedings. What additional advantages would arise from this formulation will only be realized once the group begins functioning.

Speak Out

Every member of the student body is given the opportunity to speak out, as he wishes. AIs for example, the "Let us clean up any doubts about this. He assured the group that it would be to the advantage of the LL,T. L to play host to the wool men. The importance of raising the quality of the training. Those who receive wool will be in favor of the graduate's who will apply to college. As far as any advantages received by the Institute as a whole, we shall have to sit back and see what happens.

Wool Bureau

President Lydon's announcement of the Wool Bureau's selection of L T L, is the site of its 1952 convention received very reac ting among the members of the student body. Those who were interested in vacating their rooms for the occasion were perhaps entirely in favor of the idea for such a project. The President's column, "Let us clean up any doubts about this. He assured the group that it would be to the advantage of the LL,T. L to play host to the wool men. The importance of raising the quality of the training. Those who receive wool will be in favor of the graduate's who will apply to college. As far as any advantages received by the Institute as a whole, we shall have to sit back and see what happens.

The time of the year has come when all good citizens of the S. A. must start taking advantage of the ice cream business. This Heracles task requires Him alone on March 15th when the pay- ment of this stipend becomes mandatory. The following list of literature was salvaged from the waste basket of Miss Elizabeth's, Kennedy and I would like to print it in this column since we are the only ones with a lick of the taxpayers about school. The author is anonymous but it was distributed by Buddrow Brons, Professors and in to them we extend thanks for a few well-won columns. One score and six years ago, our fathers brought forth upon this nation a new tax, conceived in malice and dedicated to the proposition that all men are fair game. Jefferson's Objection. The first income tax, fathered by Coddell Hull, was raised in 1913, one score and 17 years ago.

We are now engaged in a great mass of calculation, testing whether his taxpayer or no taxpayer- so confused and so improper- posed to the President. We are not in favor of an income tax, we come to dedicate a large portion of our income to a final resting place with those men who have spent their lives that they may spend our money.

It is altogether absurd and false that we should do this, but in the legal sense we cannot evade, we cannot undertake this tax. This is a burdens the collectors, cleverly and, who, I am not sure have gone far be- yond our poor power to add to what we must do.

Our creditors will little note nor long remember what we pay to the Board of Internal Revenue can ever forget what we report here. It is rather for us to be dedicated to the Great Task remaining before us— that from these vanishing dimes we take an important deviation to the few dollars, and we have highly re- solve that next year will not find us in a higher income bracket.

Selective Service Application Now

All eligible students were mailed this form, allowing them to apply for Selective Service Registration. In 1917, Congress passed the Selective Service Act, which was the first law in the United States to require all men between the ages of 21 and 30 to register for military service. The Selective Service Act was a response to the outbreak of World War I and was intended to ensure that the United States had a sufficient number of men to fight in the war. The Selective Service Act was later amended several times, and the last time it was amended was in 1980. The Selective Service Act is still in effect today, and all men between the ages of 18 and 26 are required to register for Selective Service. The Selective Service registration process is administered by the Selective Service System, which is an independent government agency. The Selective Service registration process is designed to ensure that all men of draft age are registered, so that they can be considered for military service if necessary. The Selective Service registration process is important because it helps to ensure that the United States has a sufficient number of men to fight in any future wars. The Selective Service registration process is also important because it helps to ensure that all men of draft age are aware of their rights and responsibilities.

Chris Chingros and Joe Morris Spark Textile In Game Which Featured L.T.I. At Its Best

L.T.I. Feb. 6—Lowell Textile, marked by the return of Chris Chingros, opened at Suffolk University by a 72-67 score. Suffolk overcame an early 16 point Textile lead to pull up within one point of Textile, but superior handling power finally paid off with a win for Textile.

Joe Morris, playing one of the best games of his career, combined with Chingros to give Textile a commanding lead. There was little difficulty from the outside in the first period with Chingros leading in both close-up. But the sharp shooters from Suffolk closed the gap and one of the longest shots (from the length of the court) or most ever seen in the Textile gym all combined to make this game one of the most exciting in recent years. The game opened with a jumper from the field which carried through the third period to control both backboards and two in close valuable points.

Chingros with 16 points led the scorers while Morris had 15 points. Textile's leadership and general all-around ability and know-how greatly strengthened the club and raised Textile's prospects for a successful season.

Brotherhood in equation to the development of skills and the acquiring of knowledge, we must learn the art of doing together.—30.

Card Waste

by Abe Elizig

The student body of our school is suffering from a serious lack of morale. One result of this is that the distressed alumni that such a situation will produce. This being a sports column, we will take a look at one side of the game—athletics. Educators agree that the unifying effect that a successful sports program can have. This is substantiated by our experience with the 1949-1950 football team. During the past several years, there has been no such high degree of spirit as existed for the one week prior to the A.L.C. game. Why? For the simple reason that we had opened our season with two straight wins.

The team do have a wonderful group here at Textile who gave us a highly successful football season last year. However, soccer does not catch the eye of the average fan in this country as much as football or basketball. Certain conditions, financial and otherwise, make it impossible to have a football team at Textile. However, we do have a basketball team, and it is here that we have a force that can weld the student body together.

The basketball team is half-way through its schedule and again own a losing record. There are two possible remedies for this condition. The school could attract top notch players by subsidizing them, the easier, more logical solution of playing teams that are in the same class as we are. There is an abundance of small schools in the New England area, many of them teacher's colleges, where the team is not only skilled but strong. Our basketball team can win when matched against these clubs and this could serve as the unifying factor of the student body. Instead, the team (a) itself and (b) its professional teams that subsidize their ballplayers and give them Physical Education courses to make it. Some like Northeasterners, Bradley's, A.L.C., and St. Peters do not belong on our schedule.

The diagnosis is correct, the cure is simple, and the prognosis is excellent. It is now up to the powers that be.

NO JOKE NOW!!
The following excerpts are from the April 1950 Pink Issue of the TEXT.

They were a hot topic at the time, but who’s laughing now?

"Dean Lydon says: 'If the Jerks (students) don’t like it here, let them go to Normal School; we can get plenty of other students, so why play it up to them.'"

Overheard at faculty meeting: ‘Students will be forbidden to smoke or drive cars by 1951. Classes will be held eight hours a day and for four hours on Saturday.'

If these items were made in jest just two years ago, we had better be careful of the suggestions made in this year’s Pink Issue, for the very items which we may offer in humor may be the source of this year’s Freshman’s fears.

Gossipy and outspoken critics of LTI. The letter, which was read verbatim by the President, revealed the merits of LTI and told how Mr. Lydon's training here had helped him obtain a desirable job and allow him to do meritorious work in his capacity with a textile firm.
