Textile Wins from M. I. T.

Saturday afternoon, October 29th, saw Textile defeat M. I. T. by the score of 6 to 0. In action, Captain Walker’s team looked a lot better than when they tied Connecticut Aggies, but the team did not seem to have the punch to roll up a large score against M. I. T.

M. I. T. kicked off to Textile. Textile made two first downs, and lost the ball on an intercepted forward. M. I. T. was forced to punt, and after an exchange of punts Textile made thirty yards before the end of the quarter.

At the beginning of the second period Textile backs carried the ball to M. I. T.’s 18 yard line where Flagg attempted a drop kick, which was blocked, but Macher recovered the ball. A forward pass failed and after two short gains thru the line Flagg tried another drop kick which failed to reach the him. After this Textile managed to keep the ball in M. I. T.’s territory until the end of the half.

Textile kicked off to M. I. T. at the beginning of the second half. Two M. I. T. backs were thrown for 5 yard losses, each, after which M. I. T. punted to Textile’s 35 yard line. Three first downs and a forward, Farwell to Flagg, took the ball to the 29 yard line. A forward pass was intercepted and run back to Textile’s 30 yard line, where Farwell got the tackle. Another M. I. T. forward took the ball to the 15 yard line. Lombard intercepted a forward and ran the ball back to the 35 yard line, ending the quarter.

At the opening of the fourth period Macher broke away for a nice broken field run of 18 yards. Four first downs carried the ball to the 3 yard line. On the third down Captain Walker carried the ball to within inches of the goal line, and on the next play Flagg made the touchdown. Goosetree failed to kick the goal. After this score Coach Beckett substituted three backs and four line men. The new men showed up well and carried the game to M. I. T. until the final whistle.

Notes on M. I. T. Game

Macher furnished the comedy for the afternoon when he staged a human juggling act with a M. I. T. half back for partner.

Brigham and Flagg outdistance the M. I. T. kickers on every punt.

Lombard, whose knee was put in lay shape at the New Hampshire State game, has got into shape again and played his usual star game at center.

School Notes

A new ventilating duct is being constructed in the wool department lecture room, otherwise known as the "incubator." This will be a decided improvement giving a continuous change of air thus allowing the students to play away during the lectures.

Wen Chuan Chang, ’21 was a recent visitor at the school. He intends to return home to Nan Tung, China for the first of this month. He will be accompanied by Tsoi Sung Thom of the sophomore class who is returning home on a visit. Mr. Thom’s absence will be keenly felt by the football squad where he was fast rounding into a valuable man.

The students of the school wish to express their appreciation of the complimentary tickets to the Textile Exposition which were placed at their disposal. The entire exhibition was a rare opportunity to see the latest and best ideas in all branches of the textile field.

Textile Again Triumphs over Worcester Tech.

Marble Kicks Goal From 43 Yard Line for only Score of Game.

On Saturday afternoon, November 5th, the team delivered another win over W. P. I. The Worcester boys came up feeling pretty down-hearted for Textile beat them last year and they had a poor season so far, but they went home last Saturday night feeling a lot worse. With the exception of a stiff wind blowing the length of the campus, the weather was fine for playing. This wind alternately gave both teams a good chance to gain on exchanges of punt.

Worcester started the game by kicking to Lowell’s 30 yard line. On Textile’s third play Macher carried the ball for a good gain of 4 1/2 yards. Three more gains took the ball to the 20 yard line where Textile was penalized 5 yards for offside. With the ball on the 35 yard line a plunger netted no gain and two forward passes failed, so on the fourth down Marbel dropped back to the forty-three yard line and lifted the longest drop kick ever seen on the Textile Campus over the bars for the only score of the game. The rest of the quarter showed no great danger from either team Macher furnished a laugh when he caught Worcester’s big fullback in his arms and tossed him back to his own three.

The second quarter was a punting duel with Textile having the advantage. In the quarter Macher fielded two punts.

In the third period Worcester had the wind at their backs and this kept Marble busy kicking out of danger. Worcester however, did not get dangerously near the Textile goal line. In the last of the quarter Smith replaced Olsen at left-halfback.

At the beginning of the last quarter Textile carried the ball from their own 42 yard line to Worcester’s 5 yard line where an intercepted forward gave Worcester the ball. This was Textile’s best chance to score during the game but lack of the boys. In the last few minutes of play Worcester uncorked some long forwards that netted them 40.

What are the Benefits of a National Organization?

It develops a nation-wide feeling of fellowship, by giving a chance for the interchange of experience and the discussion of problems with people all over the country.

It is of tremendous value to those engaged in welfare work, as a medium of information and help, to be able to work through an organization which has some committee or representative in almost every city and town. It can establish and maintain universally high standards everywhere.

It is in a position to interpret social and health work, which is perhaps more highly developed in the United States than anywhere else, to other countries. It is a means of putting workers from other countries in touch with the fine work carried on in the United States by hundreds of organizations.

Heads of national organizations can get together for discussions of general policies, even though it is always understood that local problems must be finally solved by local organizations.

What Happens to That 50 Cents of Membership Fee Which Is Turned Into National Headquarters?

National Headquarters this year is spending $19,000,000 according to its proposed budget, a sum far in excess of that which will result from the membership money, by reason of the surplus funds at its disposal. However, it is safe to assume that the proportions in which this 50 cents is spent follow the same as those covering the nations' budgets. The expenses for the past year and the budget for the coming one by percentages are as follows:

This week has been set aside for the Red Cross Roll Call. A silk banner has been given by a friend of the Red Cross which is to be awarded to the college obtaining the highest percentage in the membership drive this week. It is a prize well worth striving for, since the college to which it is awarded will obtain nation-wide credit. If each student here at Textile wishes to do his part, the banner will be ours.

Fraternity Notes

At the last meeting of the Interfraternity Council, held at the Delta Kappa Phi House, a social committee was appointed, consisting of the following men: J. E. Shanahan, W. F. Wheaton, A. Orr, and J. A. Miller. Plans were formulated for a series of card parties between the fraternities; a suitable prize will be given at the end of the season.

DELTA KAPPA PHI HOLDS WEEK END HOUSE PARTY

The members of the Delta KappaPhi Fraternity with their lady friends enjoyed a pleasant week end party last Saturday and Sunday at the Chapter House on Mt. Vernon St.

The programme included the Worcester Tech game at the campus on Saturday afternoon and an informal dance at the Boat House Saturday evening after which a buffet lunch was served at the chapter house.

Mrs. A. E. Clahy and Mrs. L. B. Desmarais acted as matrons for the visiting young ladies, who departed Sunday afternoon.

The Lovers

As they sat there on the cold stone bench in the Venetian garden the moon rose over the silver-tinted waters of the bay, casting grotesque shadows about the white, rose-lined paths that were born of beauty and romance. There was the redolent a scent of spring in the warm zephyrs, and the leaves were whispering. The gossamer veil, fallen from her shoulders, revealed the delicate curves of bare arms and a throat enhanced by the ghostly white of the moon’s glow, and the fullness of her graceful bosom was accentuated under the caressing shadow of a willow branch. He held her hand in his and designed to place an arm lightly around her waist. His face, with rapture graven in every eloquent line, was turned in worshipful supplication toward her. She demurely hung her head.

The music from the white palace at the edge of the water had long ago died away with one languorous waltz unbreathed by their ears, and the lights in the shaded windows blinked out one by one. Still they sat, oblivious of all, yet his arm did not venture farther, his hand did not increase its pressure upon hers, his lips did not entreat a single kiss. The moon waned, until it became a dim ball, struggling against the encroaching redness of the rising sun. The night gave way to dawn.

They had spoken no word. Their hearts were of stone, but the sculptor had carved them true to life,—“The Lovers in Stone.”

Martyrs to Duty

An order has been issued forbidding the police of Lowell to flirt while in uniform. It is now expected that a further order will have to be issued forbidding the police of Lowell to take off their uniforms while on duty.

Mr. Smith in cotton class brings argument between Cannel and Schneider to an end concerning direct and indirect proportion with this statement:

"An upper berth in a pullman is lower than a lower berth because you have to get down when you get up."

Instructor: "Did you destroy all foreign matter in that solution?"
Fresh Chemist: "Yes sir, I ran it thru a meat chopper twice."

Rivers: "How long were you in New York?"
Rollins: "All I had"

Mr. Fickett to fourth year Quant. class:
"What color is nickel sulphide?"
Hadley: "Green."
Mr. Fickett: "No, it's black. You're a little green I guess, Hadley."
