Lydon Named Dean of Students

The board of trustees of L.T.I. recently took another step in the right direction by appointing Martin Lydon to the position of dean of students. A native of Lowell, he earned his bachelor's degree at Amherst College and his master's degree at Harvard University. He has served as dean of students at several other colleges and universities, including Williams College and Dartmouth College. His appointment is a welcome addition to the L.T.I. administration.

Dean Lyndon will be responsible for overseeing the college's student affairs, including student life, academic support, and extracurricular activities. His extensive experience in higher education will undoubtedly contribute to the college's continued success.

Paper and Leather Heads Appointed

The new Paper and Leather departments at L.T.I. have been established, with the appointment of two new faculty members: John Doe and Jane Smith. John Doe will be in charge of the Paper department, while Jane Smith will oversee the Leather department. Their expertise and leadership will undoubtedly help to advance the college's reputation in these fields.

Excellent Support for All-Tex Formal

The questionnaires distributed by the Student Council last week showed a high level of support for the idea of a formal dance, with 85% of respondents indicating their support. The event is planned for the fall semester.

Enrollment Hits Record 615

Figures recently released by the registrar's office show a significant increase in enrollment this year. The total number of students enrolled for the fall semester is 615, the highest in the college's history.

South Lamonts Exoduses of Grads

New Orleans, La. (L.P.)—Just as the South's vast wealth of natural resources has been shipped out of the region, so too are its brightest minds leaving the area. The so-called "brain drain" has been a concern for many years, and it continues to be a major issue for policymakers and educators alike.

They found that the graduates of the above Southern colleges take the greatest leap in their study of organic chemistry, many of the top ranking third were at...
EDITORIAL

With this issue the TEXT resumes something of a "new look." A few steps have been taken that we consider to be in the direction of the bigger and bolder newspaper advocated by the development of the Institute.

Perhaps you noticed in the masthead the new line which reads "Mork & Mindy." This is an association with Mork & Mindy, a television series which claims members among the leading scheduling publications of the United States. Through this new service we hope to bring to you each week at least one feature column from other institutions of higher learning throughout the land. This issue carries a couple of stories which run under this

The new art work which leads the sports page and some of the front pages is something of a milestone in the TEXT's history. Many of its features are able to be read if one uses the app we help you.

Your comments on the innovations and your pressures for possible future changes are eagerly solicited by the staff. Why don't you write us a letter? We have yet to find another editor that does, or who handles the situation in any way like we do. We urge you to send in and make a letter a priority.

The TEXT voice the question on the lips of the student body when it asks "What happened to the coke machines?" When the machines were present the Institute was a more "commercial" place—first from the easy availability of refreshments and second from the new books in the library that the small pedal stands were, I believe. Were they withdrawn because of health of those boys by the students? Gratitude that the students did have the books where they didn't belong on occasion and created extra work for the janitorial crew, but certainly much less work than could have solved the problem.

The overwhelming response in favor of a big All-Text formal, as evidenced by the results of the student Council's recent questionnaire, given us good reason to play for a prize that it has proved a big step in a big future, including sports events and a big formal dance with a home band and other festivities. In the I.T.T. it's the social map, collegiately speaking. The promise of the plan deserves every support and cooperation which the students have initially seen. It is to be hoped that those who give their indorsement with a pencil will do it again when other matters of more importance are called for.

As I sat enjoying my handwritten homework one night in the middle of the month when April showers and bright April showers are sometimes played by April showers, a strange thought occurred to me, to be reviewed in Weird News next week, my mind was distracted from this activity by the instant scissoring noises of ironing machines as they gridded against their sheets in Heiman Hall. It happened.

The winter season of 1964-1965 had been largely mild and dry. In fact, the first snowfall of the season was not observed until December 26. This was the earliest occurrence of a winter storm in the Boston area since 1937. The storm was characterized by heavy snowfall and strong winds, causing widespread power outages and creating hazardous travel conditions. The snowstorm lasted for several days, with accumulations of up to 30 inches in some areas. Despite the difficulties, many people took the opportunity to enjoy the winter wonderland, engaging in activities such as skiing, snowboarding, and ice skating. Let looks of joy appear on the physiognomy of any Textile Students. Jack Harlem, as rap as he may, has not packed up and run hurriedly and foolishly away. On the contrary he has coolly and methodically scrawled out every writing pen, noting, being careful to steal and stealing sweet scenes and memories. No, Jack Harlem, your tendency is to continue in the same form. But dear reader please here comes even though you may have the tendency to vilify with true hasti-

The writing pen of Jack Harlem is Jack Harlem's是一座在学生中间非常驰名的写作工具，它被广泛使用于学生之间的书信交流中。然而，Jack Harlem本人却并不以这样的方式写作，他所作的只是对写作的热爱和对文学的探索。

And when Jack Harlem is in the midst of writing, he is not likely to be found amidst the chaos of a small room, but rather in a quiet and intimate space. He is known to avoid distractions and to immerse himself in the world of his own creation. His works are characterized by a deep sense of introspection and a powerful ability to evoke emotion.

Jack Harlem's latest writing pen, which he has named "The Pens," is particularly noteworthy. It is made from the finest materials and is designed to provide the ultimate writing experience. The pens are available in a variety of colors and designs, allowing users to express their individuality and creativity.

In addition to the "The Pens," Jack Harlem has recently released a new line of writing tools, "The Stilts," which are designed to provide a more comfortable and accurate writing experience. These tools are particularly useful for writers who require a higher level of precision in their work.

Overall, Jack Harlem's dedication to the art of writing is evident in his continuous efforts to improve and expand the tools available to writers. His dedication and passion for the craft are truly inspiring, and his contributions to the writing world continue to be recognized and celebrated by his fans.

Textile Tooters Adopt Drop-Bop

Upon entering Rockwell Hall to help the band rehearse and report upon it we were greeted by a cover of "相声" translated into English as "Laughing Scholars." They are the piano complete with kernel-player who is the star of this entertainment group. Band master is an "official" student who is in charge of the band and leads them through various numbers. The leader is a member of the band and is responsible for the overall direction of the performance.

The band's performance was well received, with the audience singing along and showing great enthusiasm. The audience was particularly enthusiastic during the final number, "The Laughing Scholars," which featured a lively and fun-filled performance with a variety of musical instruments.

The band's success can be attributed to the hard work and dedication of its members. They practice diligently and put in many hours of rehearsal to perfect their performance. Their enthusiasm and passion for music is evident in their performances, and it is clear that they truly enjoy what they do.

The band's success also stems from the talent and skill of its members. Each band member is highly skilled and has a deep understanding of their respective instruments. This allows them to play together in perfect harmony and create a wonderful musical experience for the audience.

In conclusion, the "Laughing Scholars" band is a wonderful representation of the talent and passion for music that is present at the Lowell Textile Institute. Their performances are always entertaining and well received by audiences. They are a shining example of what can be accomplished through hard work, dedication, and a love for music.

Since I am still bating .300 in my predictions for Textile's golden victories, I believe that I should describe the two teams just before I make my predictions for the game.
Our Red and Black footballers are unforgivable. There are five more games listed on Textile's schedule, and it is even possible that all of those remaining games may be recorded in the victory column.

On Saturday, Textile will meet in an on and off City College squad. Since my predictions are always wrong, I will say that C.C.N.Y. will win.

The new Bedford has maintained a soccer team for several years and last year included an unbroken record in competition with such schools as Amherst, Bowdoin, Tufts, and others.

The new team, harried by a constant schedule of work, enjoyed the game thoroughly and showed considerable promise for the future season. In the second game scheduled for this year, both away, with Fall River Textile and Rhode Island, both of whom also have experienced teams.

There is a possibility of Textile becoming a part of a new interсидраид足球联赛, which means that a number of interested people in the state of New York and the Minnesota area will do something about it.

Soccer men, with superb blocking by Steve-rakas, were able to run the ball from midfield to our line, and our line to the weapons of Suffolk.

Interfraternity Council

The Interfraternity Council, a body of representatives from the four fraternities here at Tufts, takes the opportunity to assure all students and faculty members, especially the incoming freshmen, that you have made a wise choice. East of Freemen's Field lies the Interfraternity Council, whose job it is to preserve and further the combined interests of these four fraternities. Our aim is the advancement of the fraternity, and, vitally, the institution.

At the last meeting it was decided that the drive for funding all non-fraternity sponsored events will be from the opening of school until the last day before Christmas vacation begins.

Congratulations are in order for the members of the Council who were elected officers at our first meeting: Harry Holmberg, chairman; John O'Neill, vice-chairman; Adam Russ, secretary; Bernard Silver, treasurer.

The Rifle Club

The Rifle Club, which has been in existence since 1928, will be in session. The administration of the war years, will open its 1949-50 season with a general meeting of all students interested in rifle shooting. The meeting will be held at 4:00 P.M. Thursday, October 24th.

The schedule for the year will include pistol matches with other colleges in Clarkston, University of Cincinnati, Woverton Polytechnic, and Oregon State. A tentative program has been arranged for trap shooting at the University of Oregon, Portland, and the Oregon State. The Rifle Club will be held during the season.

With the display case outside the Synthetics Textiles Department office for periodical display and announcements relative to club activities.

Phis Phi

This year, more than in previous years, fraternity spirit has been on the rise. More than ever, students of every class are becoming increasingly interested in the values of belonging to an active fraternity.

We of Phis Phi have become acutely aware of the lack of knowledge and misconceptions which have developed even in this period of increased interest. Many students who are not members of our college fraternity feel that they are only glad to belong to houses which are held throughout the year. Fraternities are the social centers of any school, but in most cases they do not or should not serve in their functions after graduation.

To clear up some of these misconceptions and to answer some of the questions which have been asked by the Freshmen class, we have deemed it advisable to publish the bylaws of Phi Psi Fraternity and the Foundation upon which it is built.

Lowell Textile Players

The second meeting of the Players was held Tuesday, October 4, at 5:30 in Room 246. Election of officers was held. Joan Greig set a precedent in that she is the first woman elected President of the Players. Other officers are: Vice-President, Walter Plitt; Secretary, Richard Deuts; Assistant Treasurer, Robert Sumner. At a recent Rehearsal Board meeting Richard Hallett was appointed Publicity Chairman, and he will conduct a campaign for new members. Any member of the Players classes at LTI is eligible to become a member, and they are welcome at all meetings.

PHI SIGMA PHI

The opening event of the year's activities was held in September when the chapter gave a post-graduate shower for four of its members, Regina McCaffrey, Gay Love, Mary Brown, and Marion Narvaez. At a recent Rehearsal Board meeting Richard Hallett was appointed Publicity Chairman, and he will conduct a campaign for new members. Any member of the Players classes at LTI is eligible to become a member, and they are welcome at all meetings.
