Mill Men Open Season With Win Over Arnold

Allard and Savard Star in Back Field, While Grant Takes Line Honors; Pilgrim Make First Kick and Tackle of Year.

Opening the season, before a filled-out crowd and under a blazing sun, Textile Nine went off for a third match toward Arnold four years ago, and in the battle new talent was stepped within the shadow of the goal post. Textile started things moving by kicking a touchdown down field between 4:30 and 4:20, forcing the ball. This was the only score of the quarter. In the middle of the last quarter Captain Allard broke loose after skating left end and made a 62 yard dash down the field for Textile's other touchdown.

FRATERNITIES

Rushing season again draws near at Textile. What will here be said will be, in the main part, directed to the freshmen, but perhaps the Upper classmen will also find something of interest; especially the Upper classmen who are fraternity men.

A student cannot be too careful in selecting a fraternity. When he selects a fraternity he is selecting those persons with whom he will form his most intimate associations during the time that he is a student. When he decides on which fraternity he wishes to join, he should join it with the idea of supporting it in the utmost. One fraternity finds it necessary to close its house due to lack of support. One fraternity has four men living in its house at present, and another one eight. It is one struggle from beginning to end to make both ends meet. Fraternities at Textile are particularly deserving of whole-hearted support. Social life here is limited. What there is, originates indirectly and directly from the fraternities. When you join a fraternity, you are undertaking certain obligations. It is upon you that the success of the fraternity depends. If it is at all possible, live in your fraternity house. You will find it well worth your while. It will be a means to an end. Keep this in mind when you are considering with which group to become associated. Are the present members fellows of your type—follows with whom you are willing to work and to live?

LOWELL HIGH SCHOOL LET LOOSE

As Walter Winchell, one of our leading columnists, has said, "Give a man an inch and he builds a miniature golf course", but give the local high school the use of our campus for their football games and a score of their students, who lean a bit toward moronic tendencies, rush down our corridors with all the wanton madness of a stampeding herd. Such was the case when Lowell High School met Worcester Trade on our field. All of these distinctions took place in a few minutes. We cannot say that the Lowell High School fans were in session. It was certainly not conducive to study, to say the least. Certainly the use of our field does not include the use of the buildings to engage in pleasures which are unknown to the high school student in his own study halls. Of course, we recognize the fact that these students are very, very young, and some may be mentally undeveloped for their age, but still, under the proper persuasion of the local high school authorities, it may be brought to bear upon them that their abominable presence should be confined to the football field.

INTER-CLASS FOOTBALL RALLY HUGE SUCCESS

The football rally then commenced with cheers. Although there was only about one-half the student body there, the cheers were given with much enthusiasm. The first speaker on the program was "Mutt" Simmons, a freshman who is making a bid for quarter back. The next speaker was Musher, who is also a freshman member of the team. Jerry Bixler then surprised the gathering by getting up and speaking about the team. Jerry has taken to speaking more and more, and when he starts he stays plenty. Capt. Allen was the next to say a few words. "Eddie" urged the fellows to come out and get behind the team. He spoke of conditions which existed last year when we played C. C. Y., and of the present standing of the club. "Fred" Hardman stood up and said a few words about the Chester. Joe is a great speaker, and must everything he said concerning the attitude of the students toward the team. A few more surprises were received when such "rocks" as Buckly, Al Sheldon, and Ryan King, Mike Hobkins, "Tiger" Benson, and "Pecker" Harris spoke on their attitude toward the C. C. Y. team. "Al" Johnson added a few words in regard to the0 enclosure, speaking from the standpoint of editor of the Text. "Chick" led a few cheers and called for a ritual of applause to be given for Prof. Dow for the work he

BY BERNARD BRODY IN FUTURE MAGAZINE

I'm doing your job the best you can
And being just to your fellow man
I'm making money — but holding friends
And staying true to your alma and
You're sportsman and learning why
And looking forward and thinking high
And dreaming little and doing much.
I'm keeping always in closest touch
With what is finest in word and deed
I'm being through, yet making good
I'm deriding mildly the field of chance
While making labor a brave romance
It's getting staid despite defeat
And fighting earnestly, but keeping sweet
It's being clean and it's playing fair
It's laughing lightly at Dame Dis
It's looking up at the stars above
And drinking deeply of life and love
It's struggling on with a will to win
But taking losses with a cheerful grin
It's earning, striving through strain and stress
It's doing your Dodson—that's success

Freshmen vs. Sophs.

Evidently dissatisfied with the attitude shown by members of the freshmen class, the sophomores decided to remedy this condition. After the freshmen had printed a large "Yes" on the prints of the Merrimack, the sophomores gathered together several of the rectangular pieces of wood and lined up the set in the art of painting in accordance with Sophomore tradition, with the result that the "Yes" was changed to a much more dignified "34.

The freshman parade then staged a big scrimmage this year. Under the influence of previous endeavor, the fresh were appeased upon removing the covering of their lower appendages and proceeded in such fashion to Page's clock, where the mental little phalanx was illuminated in the parade that led to City Hall, where the little limits were allowed to recover their footprints from among the shoes which were arranged in some two neat little piles on the steps.

Miss Eda A. Magidson, Formerly of Russia, Studying at Textile Institute.

Miss Eda A. Magidson, the only young woman enrolled in the class of 1934 at the Lowell Textile Institute, is the daughter of Aaron Magidson, one of the executives of the Amterg Trading Corp. This organization is the businesslike representative of textile houses in the United States.

Miss Magidson, who is 19 years of age, has been in this country for the past five years and is a graduate of the textile high school in New York city. She is taking the design courses at Lowell Textile Institute, which is a three-year course with a diploma for the successful graduates. Miss Magidson is uncertain as to her plans on the completion of the course. Whether she will return to Russia or remain in this country to follow her chosen vacation depends on where she secures a position.

Designing preparatory weaving finishing selling

Where do you hope to fit in this picture?

If you are designing you hope to create novel ideas requiring textile LOOMS. PREPARATORY work must be handled with the knowledge that there are automatic high-speed LOOMS which require better warp and filling.

The Textile Institute, professional and practical, is the answer to your problems. We are the leaders in the field of manufacturing textiles and thus require the constant study of improvements in construction, efficient types, and best advantages of LOOMS to produce the maximum of good quality most desirably.

FINISHING decisions marked goods due to improper adjustments of LOOMS. SELLING involves also a knowledge of new developments in Textile Institute to recommend new valuable fabrics which will enable your firm to keep ahead of competition.

As you progress from your first position to that of executive, you will find the example of an increasing number of mill men—keep in touch by making regular visits to the "LARGEST BUILDERS OF PANTHER WEAVING MACHINERY IN THE WORLD."
