Placement Bureau

At death and taxes, L. T. steps forward, as L. T. steps forward, for a cause. As a front in the physical changes and the progress made over the years. Another outstanding phase of progress is not on the horizon. This is the work of the Placement Bureau over the summer.

Mr. James W. Bull, Director of the Placement Bureau, spent his summer with a large number of students and graduates. The director's comment, descriptive of the department and the course work of four years, were reviewed by Mr. Bull.

The main objectives of this trip were expanded by one of the companies. These objectives were:

1. To sell in person; plus on other days.
2. To list future cooperative training programs.
3. To check on the social and physical aspects of the companies employing Textile graduates.

He was concerned about the types of careers and the jobs. It is not easy to know what are the various positions when they are enacted, as the career of a Textile graduate is a complicated one. The positions or structures and the number will follow the same path.

New Instructors Named At LT

President Martin J. Lydon, president of Lowell Textile Institute, has announced that a series of fashion design instructors, in conjunction with the Textile Design Institute, will be named to instruct the fashion course. The newly appointed teachers will be assisted by a number of students and scholars.

David Pister of Wellington, Pa., was named as Assistant to the President. The appointment is in response to the request for a new position in the Textile Design Institute.

Dorm Doings

L. T. has two dormitories, circle and circle, but it is the people in these dormitories who have a voice in the character of the dormitory. The people in these dormitories are the ones who will make the changes that are desired. The students will take part in the making of the dormitory.

Travel Bureau

New Numbers for Classroom

One of the most successful physical changes which support the University and the Textile Design Institute over the summer.

The rooms and halls are designed by a better and number combination. The central feature of the building is the 5th floor hall, and the rest of the building.

Faust Wins LT Award

President Martin J. Lydon, president of the Lowell Textile Institute, has announced a number of outstanding students and staff members. This announcement comes jointly with President Martin J. Lydon. The name of the new position is the Textile Design Institute.

To understand the nature of the Textile Design Institute, it is necessary to experience some growing pains, but it will be fully understood as more and more people find their way to the institute.

Film Classics Group

The Film Classics Group hosting its third season at L. T. L. T. This year, the group has attracted an ever-growing number of Textile students to its showings. The group has also featured the movie "The Great L. T." (Continued on Page Five)

Fashion Design To Be New Course At Textile

Martin J. Lydon, president of Lowell Textile Institute, has announced that a new course in fashion design will be introduced in the Textile Design Institute. The course will be taught by a number of students and scholars.

Coach Dave Morey

Is Sophomore Class Adviser

In a special meeting of Sophomore class officials, Coach Dave Morey was introduced as special adviser for the group. He will be the students' resource, always a popular figure with the LT population. He has been a three-year assistant coach and the move was approved by Dean, of Wright, Wayne Villages, Wellston, Ohio. President Studebaker said the class officials felt that the move would be in the best interest of the students.

THE DORMITORY PROBLEM
By Michael Hochfeld
There has been much discussed recently about the problems that have been presented in the struggles for this year. It seems that the manyulk of the argument can be explained by stating this problem:
"Why are the students being forced to move back into the dormitories?"
The answer lies with the new rules that were put in place and the need for the students to use these rules.
The students have been forced to use the dormitories and they have been given no choice in the matter.
The dormitories have been improved and made more comfortable for the students.

"So I See To Him—Now Wait-A-Minute, Like"
MIS-PLIES

The title of this column might be misleading to some of the underclassmen about the campus, especially to the freshmen, with textile terms has been in all probabilities very vague. As a matter of fact, it wasn't until last year that the armies learned the full experience of the infamy of "MIS-PLIES." A misplie is supposedly a fly or an imperfection in the construction of woven cloth. Therefore this column is supposed to be devoted to the illustration of the different detrimental parts of student life at L. T. I. One of the prime requisites to accomplish this aim is to have a clear and concise view of the main problems faced by the average student at the campus. As means to furnish this information, I would like to have such an article that would focus on a piece of paper any pet on all on which you need to be published a column such as this. Put your name on it and print it in any madcap. You won't have to do much more than your name, as it is required in formal recognition of the Student Council, but just put your name on a piece of paper and see if I get it and we'll see if we can't read it on to a column. I understand you to this so that you won't have to be for reading much unnecessary and ambigious sentences. It would be ideal if everyone at the Text could join me in some one piece which stands out in meaningful practice. So he's been talking.

Omicron Pi

New again as the days that we return to the well-woven halls and grounds of LIT to find familiar faces of comrades. To these friends a style and greeting extends in the living outside of shared experiences in the academic adventure. However, they are the mirthful and somewhat alien persons that come under our gaze.

It is understandable the platform of monies that the beauty available should also be extended. For this purpose the freshmen are carefully invited to jump in at the change of the books by the formally known as the “six-months’ period.” We are sure that you have not anticipated your days to be spent in the following:

So, when you wish to get acquainted with us and have you not yet to know us, a list of the books that are provided with you at any time that you wish to get acquainted with us.

This list is provided as you wish to get acquainted with us and have you not yet to know us, a list of the books that are provided with you at any time that you wish to get acquainted with us.

For the benefit of prospective undergraduates a few history of LIT is in order.

Established in 1883 at Philadelphia Textile Institute, Delta Kappa Phi is the oldest textile fraternity in the country. Present chapters are at North Carolina State University, New Bedford, and Philadelphia Textile Institute.

We have only the highest respect for the beautiful and respected men who hold the names of our chapter and are the leaders of our fraternity.

Our chapter has always been a source of pride and has always been a source of pride.

It has been a tradition for us to gather at the beginning of the year to celebrate the beginning of the year with our brothers and to enjoy their company.

Delta Kappa Phi

Before you all get laid in the depths of these shiny new books which you have undoubtedly been "school" to purchase, all the little Omicrones would like to extend you a hearty welcome and express your appreciation for the efforts of the Omicron Scholars.

The Omicron scholars have brought about many new changes for only the betterment of our fraternity.

This year's scholars have been hard at work to improve the quality of our work. In order to improve the quality of our work, they have been working hard to make sure that our work is of the highest quality.

The Omicron scholars have also been working hard to make sure that our work is of the highest quality.

Although the semester has been hard at work to improve the quality of our work, they have been working hard to make sure that our work is of the highest quality.

Pl Lambda Phi

The Pl Lambdas are back. After another summer of visiting, the old friends are back. Nothing is better than spending a summer's travel. Some of them are photo pergers and are well tuned (these were the travelers) while others were lost and Strained by three months work.

The boys start their work and begin the arduous task of getting the fraternity house and grounds in some semblance of order. The grassy jungle surrounding the house was quickly turned into neatly cut lawns while the interior of the house was quickly turned into the chaos of the summer. They considered it an expensive well-equipped truck to see the country.

They equipped several light gadgets and a small truck to get them into their family. Slightly Sore were they to get them out. Two months having passed, and the truck having been stolen somewhere along the way, our three companions returned home covered with dust.

We also heard that Botts was ‘in’ (a long one) for the commanding officer’s position in Chicago Cubland. Much persuasion was necessary to induce him to return once more to his work at the Institute.

After the summer excursion had been talked out, the conversation turned to school and the new academic year. Some Pl Lambdas found them selves with new addresses and no automobile and had to depend on their own ingenuity and spirits to get them where they wanted.

Accordingly, Sore were they to get them out. Two months having passed, and the truck having been stolen somewhere along the way, our three companions returned home covered with dust.

After the summer excursion had been talked out, the conversation turned to school and the new academic year. Some Pl Lambdas found them selves with new addresses and no automobile and had to depend on their own ingenuity and spirits to get them where they wanted.

If it is often enough to say much about Pl Lambda social ideas for the coming year, but we expect that you will not be lacking in entertainment. Once we regain the feeling of books under our arms and settle down to these long, nightly study, we can begin to think of how to spend a few of these short weekend hours with something besides books.

But as we are not primary for an education. We are an age older and have the platform maturity. It is perhaps easier now for most of us to realize that an education and to shed some of those old ideas that we can get by on a minimum of study. Without our realization, we find ourselves at Lowell Textile with every opportunity to make the most for ourselves. To better the education, things might be done to do the thing for us.

Donald E. Fingold

This is the keynote of our Fraternity and the foundation upon which it is built. It has grown to be a balance in force with active and exclusive chapters, with over 2,500 members on the campus and about 5,000 members through the U.S. and abroad. For this reason, the Fraternity has been considered by a group of influential clubs from a local organization to the American and representatives of the same have visited by the Council and by others.

It is a far too organization, but, we will look for the spirit of fellowship and brotherhood, plus the strengthening of our houses through new memberships every year.

Phi Psi

For the Fraternity was founded at Philadelphia Textile School in 1930. Gamma Chapter at Toward was founded in 1936. The Constitution, then drawn up and now in force, states in Articles 1, 2, 3, the following:

The objects and purposes of the Fraternity shall be: To promote good fellowship among earnest men of the Textile Schools and Colleges with textile departments; Second, to encourage a high standard in textile work; Third, to assist by securing and encouraging the advancement of its members.

It is our duty to prepare and publish immediately this Fraternity and his activities. For this reason, the Fraternity shall be: To promote good fellowship among earnest men of the Textile Schools and Colleges with textile departments; Second, to encourage a high standard in textile work; Third, to assist by securing and encouraging the advancement of its members.

The inclusion of our Fraternity and the foundation upon which it is built. It has grown to be a balance in force with active and exclusive chapters, with over 2,500 members on the campus and about 5,000 members through the U.S. and abroad. May 21, Wednesday, 8:30 A.M. — Senior examinations begin
May 28, Wednesday, 8:30 A.M. to
June 4, Friday, 12:00 P.M. — Second semester examinations
May 30, Friday — Institute closed — Memorial Day
June 9, Monday — Commencement

This revision of the published calendar is in line with the by-laws of the faculty. Since Colledge Day and Washington's Birthday fall on Friday, each holiday is extended to Saturday. Bray-Hollingford: This has not been done, however, in the case of Memorial Day because this occurs during the final examination period and the semester officially ends one week later. Patriote Day has been deleted since it falls on Saturday.

The most noticeable change is in the Christmas recess. To perpetuate the practice of the Institute—brandy holiday, 11:30 P.M. to 12:00 P.M. tends to depress both students and staff of the most cheerful and the last few weeks before Christmas. It would not be more desirable therefore, to advance the beginning of the recess period to the close of classes on December 13 and close it two weeks later—namely, January 3, 8:30 A.M. —

FOOTBALL TEMPORARILY SUSPENDED

The lack of weather for the remainder of the season has necessitated the suspension of football and the sports page of the TEXT wishes to annouce that football has been temporarily suspended by vote of the board of trustees, actting on the advice of a specialty athletic advisory board organized by President Lyden to investigate the sport. The advisory board recommended the suspending of the sport for financial reasons. The LIT sport calendar will have the special team player with a new same article, while hordings will be advertised necessarily. An Intramural program of touch football will be organized by Wicks ‘Randy’ Runnels.

To you "the school" may be a few of the boys who have recently taken new jobs or have been transferred. Among these are:

Bryant Corporation, 34, have in the Manchester, N. H. office of Frank Matteson of Asbestos Mfg. Company. Frank Mattson, 33, has joined the LTI team inOverlay of Fiberglass at Ashton, R. I.

Ken Adler, 26, has taken a job at Galion-Jerry Neenan at Fair Haven, Mass., working for Firestone Industrial Products Co.

John Strong, 39, is in Providence. He 1., with the Tobin Welding Co.

Joe Duffy, 41, has journeyed back to/Morrisville Processing Co. in Lowell.

So late changes have occurred since June 1951, and all are steps in a progressive fashion. Let's keep LTI moving. Mr. Hiff is doing it, who are you?"

Tells of Research

The Foundation sponsored, Lydon pointed out, was organized for the purpose of investigating problems in vulcanizing chemistry, physics, biology, art, engineering, and industrial economics to the fields of textiles, paper, leather, and similar areas of interest.

In describing the function of the workshop, Lydon said it was created in response to the request of the textile industry to provide a study of the manufacturing, processing, and merchandising methods of modern textile operations.

Promising the need for a united effort of all interested in multipling and increase the status of textile production facilities in this region. Pres. Lydon declared no one agency could accomplish such an end. It will take the co-operative efforts of industry, education, the communities and local governments to bring about a resurgence of industry in the Lowell and New England area.

Among members of the LTI faculty who attended the convention were: Professor Peter Davids, head of the design and weaving department and Professor Gilbert B. Merrill, head of the extension and learning department. Pres.
