Demonstration Against Dean King

This Wednesday’s demonstration will be held on Kent St. in front of Cumnock Hall to protest the policies of Dean Leo F. King Jr. He, through his irresponsible conduct, has forced the student body to rise in opposition. Many issues must be dealt with at this protest. Here are the facts and reasons why this demonstration is being held:

1) Suspension of Student's Rights
   Time and time again the Dean has suspended the Constitutional and Institutional rights of students. A freshman has not yet received an appeal on the charges against him. Dean King has repeatedly displayed a will by the Board of Trustees stating that any sanction is appealable.

2) Legal Search and Seizure
   On Dean King’s approval, mobs were entered in Cumnock Hall over the weekend break. As a result of this action, several students were charged (by the Dean’s office) with having turned flags. Dean King has the right to schedule this search just as stated byTrustee’s rules.

3) Intrusion of Students
   Two times students have walked into this office only to be intimidated by Dean King. The students feel it’s about time a man who will act as a father figure but as a Dean will act as an autoritarian figure.

4) Deception and Manipulation of the Facts
   Recently, the Dean has been caught lying to the students of LTI. Last week the Dean told a student that the Food Committee decided not to refund his money for the food plan even though he had religious restrictions in eating at the cafeteria. This was totally untrue as proven by a confrontation between the student and the Dean. The food committee had actually decided to refund his money.

Over the years Dean King has been opposed almost every important movement proposed by student leaders. He was against alcohol in the dorms, pitballs, the football club, etc. He has proven himself to be a student oppressor.

Dean King has rejected the idea of Beer Blasts in Cumnock Hall to avoid students going on a rampage and destroying the Administrative Building. The right to enjoy their own unobstructed and ridiculous. This is supported by the fact that there has never been any major trouble of any event here at Tech.

Dean King, the students feel, is about time that the LTI community become aware of the growing communication gap between Dean King and the students. The time for a demonstration has come. They feel, for that might modern day sentences will tell to them; Dean King doesn’t.

LTI and ISC Sponsors Unity Week

The second annual “Unity Week” between Lowell State and Lowell Tech began tonight in Cumnock Hall. Unity Week, which in one year his become the second major social event at the colleges, is expected to be even more successful than last year.

This unity week is basically a week long string of social events sponsored by the Sophomores and Freshman classes. The program was created to promote friendship and understanding between students who should have been friends long ago, and who are not in the same classes. Tonight there will be a dance in Cumnock Hall. Featuring “Finale”, there is still the possibility of an open bar in which case the proceeds will be donated to the Newman Relief Fund.

Wednesday night there will be a “Variety Show” in Cumnock Hall. Last year we called it a talent show but most students in the show demonstrated very little talent (or audience was very talented). Nevertheless, the show was a huge success and probably the most entertaining evening in the history of Cumnock Hall. This Unity Week committee strongly urges all students to attend the talent show and consequently have done not and to charge at admission fee. The movie of the week will be shown immediately afterward.

This Friday night, the Rock Open “TOMMY” in Gostya Gym, also movies in Cumnock Hall and at Big O Fraternity.

Saturday night in Gay 90’s night with a dinner dance in the Lowell State Lounge. Tickets are $3.50 per person, single tickets will also be sold.

The Unity Week committee realizes that most of the students isn’t exactly rolling in money. We’ve kept admission cost to a bare minimum in order to encourage you to attend, and we’re expecting lines. But we think our colleges need something like this, something you’re worth the efforts. We only hope that you will have time advantage of as many opportunities as possible. If you have any questions see Jim Bradley Reps. 118 Leitch Hall, or call 652-3234, or the Student Senate office 454-4737. Have a Happy Unity Week!

A House is Not a Home

The LTI housing policy was totally revamped at last Thursday’s meeting when they voted in Dean King’s housing proposal which included coed housing. It’s been heard that only three years ago graduates were approved over Dean King’s adamant objections and that LTI has now evolved into a more progressive atmosphere and somehow is still functioning.

There will be only one coed dorm next year, Eames Hall. Eames was chosen because of its size, location, and undergraduate composition. One half of the first floor and the entire floor will be given over to the women. The other half of the first floor will be converted to coed housing and the dormitory at the end of the building.

The Housing Authority was also directed to develop plans and present an adequate feasibility study to married student, female, and growing faculty housing along with a plan for renovating Leitch and Halligan Halls.

Also be implemented next term is a $300 room reservation fee and contract and a $25 damage deposit for both dorms expected to be proposed when the student fulfills the contract. The money will be placed in a savings account and the interest earned over the year will be returned to student activities.

Dean King’s office is proudly conducting a major recruiting effort to fill the dorms that will result in forcing a number of students to live in the dormitories. Students have already received a propaganda letter stressing the benefits of living on campus. The policy of requiring on campus residence is incorporated by finances.

The Housing Authority must have full occupancy or close it to it meet the gold payments on the bonds. If they cannot meet the repayment schedule due to less than 100% occupancy, the remainder of the students will be forced to pay up the tab.

However, this logic is based on the fact that there is a clear set of rules for the in-town students and the administration should be interesting at does modern housing in not the only requisite for attractive dormitory living.

DIPLOMAS

At the Institute Council meeting of 3/8/73 the Council voted by a margin of 15-2 in favor of Blom Diplomas. A thank diploma is awarded to a student at the June meeting to those seniors who did not have enough credits to graduate at that time, but will have enough credits by the end of the upcoming summer session. This year there will be about 100 (or 120) students who will complete the required credits for graduation.

DOWN SHIFT

A most peculiar trend was evidenced at 1:40 thirsty tech found itself in the world of the soccer and the art, and the band, and the dance, all in attendance.

Some conditions did not play a role in this inexplicable phenomenon, since the boy and girl were not good. Disturning external influences, the problem obviously must be internal. What occurs at Tech daily is a complex and the dormitory experience and probably begin understood, but out of the game falls a denominator lacking. Lately the attitude of the students have been rather to the point, the complete absence of any organized activity. These demonstrations were connected with the war in Vietnam. That is, however, was concerned with issues concerning personnel. That is, however, would have been rather to the point, the complete absence of any organized activity.

We are first in a state of unrest. Teecess is mounting throughout the school and the dormitory is mounting within the dorms. Once again the reasons for the unrest are present, but this time it has been a call to the Dean of Students Affairs Leo King.

Dean King has been long known for his controversial manner concerning student issues. He advocated allowing guns in dorms during extramural hours only if the door to the room is left open for easy access. He also said that every major college had "normal" closed hours.

Last spring became an issue.

AGNEW WAS HERE!

On the cold and cloudy night of March 1, Spike "Ted" Agnew dipped into town. After visiting the Sports organization building on the banks of the Merrimack, the poems were read and the students were treated to the oratorical of Lowell, to entertain at Paul Conra's 100 club a dink (finals) of $10.

When Agnew arrived about 7:30 (only half an hour later), a hundred and fifty or so members of the student body were on hand to welcome him. Many with a guilty number of policemen, police dogs, and secret service personnel, the students immediately assembled in the auditorium, where the suspect was quartered for the night.

To the disappointment of some (the rest of the orators), the voice of destiny was not heard, and instead quickly ended the institution, in which 800 of the 900 students of the school were present. The oratorical of Lowell was more than expected.

The attendance reached a peak fairly late part of the night when the police with arrests on后果, the Boston College and the New England College students were present. The oratorical of Lowell was more than expected.

As has been noted, the final address extended, but then the entire assembly was lightened.

There were a large number of people present.

As the evening went on, a new crowd attracted by the detractors of over the activities of the orator. Interestingly, individual students were present.

The program was up by the spirit of providing coming in order for students to explore when they explore.

The audience is slowly building.

Why Not At Tech?

For the month's time between first and second semester, MIT students, notably the dormitory braces, has been obvious. The conditions have been, analyze opinion, blow each other, and see each other at earthquake.

Involuntary changing has been the only way out. This year the dormitory braces have a major place, the dormitory braces have a major place, the dormitory braces have a major place, the dormitory braces have a major place.

With such a variety of courses offered, tech students can find a wide range of interests and activities. It is surprising how some of the dormitory braces are providing opportunities for the students to develop a wide variety of interests outside the dormitory braces.

The dormitory braces are excellent for the students who are interested in dormitory braces. However, the dormitory braces are providing opportunities for the students to develop a wide variety of interests outside the dormitory braces.

Jerry has been working on campus, and he is a mix of beer and beer served in Cannon Hall. Eighty-eight percent of the gross receipts were to go to benefit the Weinberg relief fund.

Dean King, however, has denied us the privilege of serving beer in Cannon Hall. When Gary Cunavo originally approached the Dean and asked him for permission to serve beer, the Dean said he would reach a decision the next day. On the next day when Gary Cunavo or the decision the Dean replied with a "no," when asked why he made the decision, the Dean said he was not "in liberty to give his reasons."

Finally, after repeatedly being asked to give his reasons for not allowing the beer, King issued a memorandum. The memorandum said: "In view of the fact that there has been no liquor allowed in this building by any agency during the past 19 years, we see no reason for changing the rule now, in view of the fact that there is a hotton on campus where that function can be held." (Eames Hall Barroom)

The memorandum also stated that the Union Week officers originally approached the Dean, he offered the event in Eames Hall barroom. This was a direct f, which is nothing compared to the Union Officer's offer. Only after the Union Week officers renounced the offer through an memo we (said we accepted), telling the Dean that the Eames basement wouldn't hold enough people for a major, although the campus Nicaraguan relief fund was told by an administrator from Cannon Hall that Eames Hall basement has a capacity of 400 to 400 people, which was the reason why it was not open to be supported by the December classical concert, and that last year he shut down the Eames coffeehouse because of the noise.

Last Tuesday morning a few Unity Week officers went to see the Dean to ask him to reconsider. We asked the Dean why he had cancelled our beer permit (for Monday night) and for the "Gay Nineties" dinner Tuesday at State. We denied having any knowledge that we had ever applied for beer permits. We apologized for making this accusation, which we felt at the time was not true, and sincerity. Wednesday, after the afternoon, Jim Bender called the licensing board and asked them if we had cancelled the permit. He was told that it was cancelled by an administrator in Cannon Hall. Jim called Dean King and asked him if he had cancelled our beer permit. Dean admitted to Jim that he had intruders to an administrator to cancel the permit. Sandy Devoile and Doug Phillips then went to see this administration office and asked him if he had indeed cancelled the license. He denied having any knowledge of the incident. We then approached the Dean to come to our meeting. At first the Dean refused to talk about us, making a spectacle of himself in front of a couple of students, but eventually we had our meeting. We then cancelled the permit. I asked the Dean why he had cancelled our license, and he again denied doing so.

We bifurcated, first asked the Dean, 11am. We asked the Dean why he had cancelled the permit. There was indeed liquor allowed in Cannon Hall at one time, would be able to serve beer also (since the reason the permit was refused was to have beer in Cannon Hall because no president had been set up). He declined to answer.

The Unity Week Committee

Dear Editor:
The freshman and Sophomore classes as a part of their Unity week project organized a party, the mixers being served in Cannon Hall. Eighty-eight percent of the gross receipts were to go to benefit the Weinberg relief fund.

LTI TRUSTEES

By Tom Kirstchner

This article is the first in a series to familiarize the student with the roles, duties and the importance of the individual members on the LTI Board of Trustees. The Board of Trustees, ideally, the policy-making body of the Institute.

There are currently 19 members all appointed by the Governor (except for the Student Trustee who is appointed by the Student Senate). With this exception, they are appointed for a term of three years.

Meet Mr. Sheldon Busansky

This is the second installment in a continuing series of articles geared to enrich the student's knowledge of the LTI Board of Trustees, the people who devise policy for the institution.

Perhaps the most active member of the Board of Trustees, (the first being the Chairman, Mr. Lovett), is Mr. Sheldon Busansky. Mr. Busansky was born September 20, 1924. He received his formal education through the Springfield school system, MIT, and eventually graduated from Harvard Law School.

At the present time, Mr. Busansky is Director of Operations at the Honeywell Radiation Center. This Honeywell plant outside of Lexington produces various electronic-optical, nuclear detection, sensors and small subsystems.

Busansky believes that a person becomes a member of the Board of Trustees through their activity in the educational field and personal recommendation. He was interviewed by Miss. Secretary of Education's, Joseph Cronin's office, newly elected that he didn't think that he possessed that much visibility. Subsequently, Busansky was interviewed by the Lieutenant Governor's office and shortly thereafter was appointed by the Governor as a Trustee at LTI. This seemingly indefinable man is Vice-Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Chairman of the Personnel Committee, is a member of the Tuition Subcommittee, sits in the Finance Committee meetings, and is in a representative capacity on the State Tuition Policy Committee. He gets up to Lowell Tech, for courts and to attend official functions. While Mr. Busansky is a very pleasant person to talk with, possessing unashamed opinions on certain matters, he is rather reserved on other subjects of interest such as politics, business, and music.

The following section is a synopsis of a recent Text interview held with Mr. Busansky.

Concerning the recent tenure issue involving the resignation of eight faculty members by the Board of Trustees, Mr. Busansky feels that the right decision was made. He "tried to do some understanding of what most schools subscribe to as a meaningful tenure policy." Busansky has done this by researching, taking time out to meet with the tenure issue, reading such articles as those written by Yale's President in defense of tenure. He wishes to ascertain "what other schools subscribe to as a meaningful tenure policy."

A "long term tenure policy will be the ideal situation." How to establish a working and responsive tenure policy seems to be the crux of the issue. Changing a former policy can be a very traumatic experience, especially where jobs are involved. Not everybody is happy, some feel that once a job is made and the Trustees decision did represent a compromise. However, "It was the right thing to do. It's just not healthy for a college to have 38% of the faculty on tenure."

A recent issue which seems to be getting a lot of publicity concerns the reorganization plan for state education in accordance recently for Secretary of Education, Joseph Cronin. Reaction to this plan has, however, traveled across the entire spectrum of emotion. Here at Tech, Dr. Hogan has cited the reorganization plan as an attempt to "bring in a mixture of autonomy and coordination in the state system. The Mass. Teachers Association and the Mass. Society of Prof. won't as be in an article entitled "MSP Committee Stays Reorganization Plan," found in the association's publication of Mass. Prof. Mr. Busansky has stated, at the time of the interview, that he has not read the specifics of the plan and does "not have a strong opinion." However, he does have two major concerns. First of all, should Lowell Tech, or Lowell University, become regionalized, it would be viewed as a resistance of the State. Secondly, moving the Board away from the campus would lead to student representation. A student from LTI wouldn't necessarily be on the board. However, Mr. Busansky is expecting some modification on this issue before the plan is implemented within the whole school system.

This issue depends on how much power would gravitate to the "Super Board." "The Board has been and is a positive step. The time scales between the proposed regionalized boards and the individual schools would become larger, with the immediate policy, possibly, becoming less responsive to the people."

The question of tuition is a bit premature. As a member of the Tuition Subcommittee, Busansky states that the long-term implications are the main concern and purpose of the subcommittee and not the year to year decisions.

"Well, it's got to improve the social life," is Busansky's opinion concerning the imminent merger between Lowell Tech and Lowell State. There is a need to broaden the perspective of the engineer at LTI. Looking at it from this business point of view, it is necessary to expand upon the social knowledge of the students at Lowell Tech. He endorses the merger wholeheartedly.

A University of Mass. at Lowell would create the same set of motives as expressed earlier concerning the reorganization plan by Cronin. The creation of a large regional board, which would visit the campus every four months, and a president located in Boston would not be responsive to the people.

Speaking on the position of Trustee, Mr. Busansky states that there are no tangible rewards when occupying this position, all "intangible" rewards. He is not active in politics saying his Trusteeship is the "only state position I've ever held." Busansky drove an nudge at this point saying, "I'm a business that serves a corporation." An interesting statement.

Busansky spends about two to four hours per week researching issues that come before the trustees, exclusive of the actual meetings themselves. This, however, depends on the issue, those questions in which he has more interest, he will spend more time researching, the tenure issue is one example, more than six hours of research a time put in.

"I don't think there's any question that a Student Trustee is a good person to have on the Board. A Student Trustee should also be on the Board to that various segments of the university should be represented."

- Discrimination at Lowell Tech is "no different than anywhere else." Certainly not a verbatim statement.

- What are your thoughts on marijuana? "No opinion." One can't say anything about something that is illegal.

- And lastly, Mr. Busansky made a brief statement concerning the costs of the new stadium: "Please, I hope it's good."}

GYM LACK OF MAINTENANCE

In January of 1967, LST's Athletic Gymnasium was opened for the first time. Since that time the gym has seen a great deal of use, especially in the winter months. The gym is used for a variety of sports, and it has become a popular recreation and repair and replacement, and 3) general equipment.

When the Physical Education building was completed in the 1960's, the gym was considered to be one of the best in the nation. However, over the years the gym has been subject to wear and tear and has required a great deal of maintenance and repair. The gym was constructed with the latest technology available at the time, but it was not designed with the future in mind.

Another problem is that the gym is not only the main source of physical activity for the student body, but it is also used for many other activities such as meetings, banquets, and other events. This results in a great deal of wear and tear on the gym, which requires constant maintenance.

In conclusion, the gym is in need of major repairs and maintenance. The Student Senate and the Athletic Department should work together to ensure that the gym is properly maintained and repaired in order to provide a safe and enjoyable environment for students.

Rope and Hammer

May 13, 1973

The Alpine Club, which has been in existence since 1954, is an outfit, organized as a means of outdoor physical fitness. The club has grown to such a large number of members that we were awarded membership by the Student Council to purchase new technical equipment. The new equipment purchased was baskets, 3 ropes, 6 hammers, and 16 jets, 2 ropes and a cowboy hat. The clubs also climbs every weekend during the spring. All people interested in learning rock climbing, should come in our weekly meetings every Tuesday.

Opening speech included:
1. JOCA SABINE DANCE WEEKEND AT UCCOM.
   This includes: climbing, backpacking, rock climbing, and white water kayaking as well as the usual socializing and good people.
2. VETERANS' DAY and the kickoff to the fall semester.

The weather is May 4... wait till you see this year!!

Persing Rifles

Persing Rifles' second semester pledge class is moving along well, as well as the other spring events. The pledges are now busy learning the military bearing and positions that they will use in our upcoming drill door. We hear from our Personnel Officer that they are progressing very well planned, but they still have a long way to go before they are awarded the purple and white Insignia of a Persing Riflesman.

Our Parking Space will be shared involving 32 women with coaches, Jeff Bell and Dave Sizemore. Both are dorm students and we hear they are subsidizing the spaces with options. They had a better mastery of the space so far. They have an approach towards our activities. We would like to thank Col. Bob Billings, Ms. Levin, and Dean Leo F. King for the generous use of their spaces for the past two weeks.

The Drill Season is starting up for us now. The Manhattan Drill Meet is coming up at the end of the month.

Why Not at Tech?

I strongly believe that Tech should have a climbing team. The outdoor community is rich with opportunities for students to participate in activities that promote physical fitness and personal growth. I suggest Tech invest in climbing equipment and hire a climbing instructor to guide students.

With the support of Tech students, this initiative could become a reality. Let's work together to

Dear Editor:

Here is an honest description of the lifestyle and current situation at LTD. These facts of the LTD experience seem to have come out when the LTD catalog, key, and handbook were printed.

1) LTD is where a student can enjoy an escape from academic pursuits on the top three floors of our liberal arts library. Students of these activities include studying and all are disruptive and noisy offering the student a chance to express that latent desire for activity.

2) LTD is where any student may study at their leisure in the dorms when provided with the necessary equipment.

One single accident leads to indentation. Look.

One pair of ear plugs to keep out noise.

Two handy piano guards to prevent golf-size lights from getting turned off at the fine box.

3) LTD is where what could have been a peaceful campus was turned into a violent educational experience through loud and planing bordering on pure genius. The LTD Planning saw fit to install a number of noisy streets and one large open sewer (the political consideration) to relieve any possible tranquility. These factors can be utilized in various ways, two of which we recommend.

A/Designing cars between buildings for amusement and recreation.

B/Walking across the Merriments to promote better blood circulation on cold windy days.

4) LTD is where the LTD Planners constructed a `girl's dorm' and then to promote a better social life filled it with boos.

5) LTD has just completed a new student union building which will no doubt be used to a lesser extent than when it was cleaned and slurred by the staff.

A/Cheap housing with modern air conditioners.

B/Good wholesome and nutritious food.

C/Any atmosphere conducive to academic achievement.

D/By far the best library and most clearly labeled where one can experience the newspaper rack in the periodical room. This device is always equipped with various newspapers a week or longer to provide one with a weekly and historical experience.

5) LTD offers the student many opportunities for recreation when you are there. One of these is the observation of the heavy traffic at the LTD Hospital.

8) Registration and Prejudgement here at LTD are efficient and plentiful opportunities for students and faculty alike... with modern the process the student will never feel as though he is out and the will.

All of LTD the students' pace of mind is refined by the knowledge the way in which the various groups control and operation of the students.

With this brief description of the LTD experience one will now have the insight needed to decide where he should apply or should have applied.

PROTECT STUDENTS' RIGHTS TO PRIVACY, which are also approved by private landowners. The bill also guarantees protection from disclosure of academic records, except with the student's permission.

8) One version which passed by a 52-29 vote, received much opposition from state representatives and college administrators.

Representative Tom Tofte of Bozeman, who was a 22-year-old, voiced his disapproval by saying, "It's a slap in the face of reasonable people... for the educationally students another escape mechanism by which to violate their rights."

According to Glen Lewis, director of student housing at Montana State University, the bill would grant students more rights than any city clientes. "A bill that would have been passed, approved and be

Two more LETTERS—Another Dean Lover

One Reader:

Dean reported the incident at Evans Hall and discussed it at length, but in my opinion, quite foolish. His report was quite unclear in many instances, such as the installation date, students didn't have to pay. The Dean never informed the students that they didn't have to pay, they simply didn't have to pay until they read the article. Also, as far as maintenance goes to turn on the heat, there was no time that had a closed door force. Your Support failings may have been on Wed. March 14 at noon, somehow believe in our (students) rights any more. The time to coddle him...

FILM SOCIETY PRESENTS AWARD WINNING FILM

Currently in its tenth Anniversary season, the Renaissance Film Society, directed by Albert Sandberg, will present "The Garden of Allah" as a tribute to the Lewitt Art Association. The play will be screened on March 16, Friday evening at 8:15 p.m. in the Parker Gallery of the James Abbott McNeill Whistler House, 243 Wotton Street, Lowell.

Marlene Dietrich and Charles Boyer are the stars in the award winning film which takes place in the Sahara and rediscovered Algeria. "The Garden of Allah" is a romantic tale of a Trappist monk who leaves the monastery, breaking his vows with God. The film, a classic of its kind, has been adapted to be a two million dollar success, resulting in the greatest love story of its time. Marlene Dietrich plays the role of a woman in love with the monk who is played by Charles Boyer. The film won an Academy Award for Color Cinematography.

Very commendable also is the movie score, which was nominated for an Academy Award. Directed by Richard Boleslawski, "The Garden of Allah" also stars Basil Rathbone, C. Aubrey Smith, Joseph Schleis, Richard Arlen, and Tilly Leach.

Tickets for the film will be on sale at the door with reduced rates for students. Additional information can be obtained by calling 452-9661.

THE WHEATON TRIO

On Tuesday March 13th, the Wheaton Trio will perform a recital in the Eddy Theatre at 8:00 p.m. The recital will deal with the problems of playing together in a trio and how they rehearse a piece of music.

The Wheaton Trio has received widespread acclaim for its imaginative programming and outstanding interpretation of chamber music. In addition to performing the standard trio works of such composers as Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven and Brahms, their repertoire includes the complete cycle of Dvorak Trios. Dedicated also to the performance of contemporary music, the Trio recently gave the Boston premier of John Harbison's Trio which they will soon record for CBS.

"I found the whole Wheaton concert a great pleasure... the program itself was fresh and unusual..." the program was warm in sound, thoroughly thought out, and clearly projected."
Omicron Pi
Rushling Season is in full swing here at Omicron Pi. There are two major parties upcoming at the near future. March 24, there will be a band party with all the traditional Greek beverages and the Eks. It’s on a Saturday night, so come on over for a first time. And... one week from that night, March 31, the Brothers of Omicron Pi will present their annual “Monte Carlo” dance party. Not just an average party, but a chance to spend an evening completely detached from the rut. It is a chance to visit your gambling ambitions at Roulette, Craps, Poker, Blackjack, and various other betting phenomena. And just for good measure, there will be a live band playing for your listening and dancing pleasure. So, remember, Saturday night, March 31, is the night. Get a date, come to O Pi, enter our Space-Time warp, and find yourself right in the middle of Las Vegas having the time of your life.

The intramural sports season has been quite active lately. The basketball team was eliminated in their second playoff game by the “Diehards,” who really played an excellent game. The brothers wish to thank the basketball team on their great season. Things were brighter for the Volleyball team, however, who opened the season on a good note with a win over TKE. Hopefully the trend will continue.

TKE: A Unique Experience
Our chapter didn’t have anything on the weekend before this one, but the chapter at Worcester Poly Tech did, and what a party it was. Waheeda K. Snow, stay off my back. All the brothers from our chapter that went had a good time. Girls were abundant. I’m happy to report, they had a good hand and plenty of stereo equipment. We heard that article. They have a nice house at Worcester, where they are one of our chapter members, and it’s one of the many great things about our fraternity. Overall, you could call it a nice party. We also were hoping for a few other events that weekend, but that’s the policy for our chapter and it’s one of the many great things about our fraternity. Overall, you could call it a nice party.

As for this past weekend, we had a few guests over for Saturday night which turned out very well. We enjoyed a good time. In addition to the food, if I recall, the atmosphere for the party. We toasted a lot of girls which always goes well and although we always have good parties, this one was above average. Butcher, who says I’m drunk?

Our next big function will be Alpha Weekend, and this will happen this weekend of March 23. This is one of the biggest functions of the year for us, and it’s always a great time. Wristbands are available for a whole season and we B.S., a great idea, and it’s off with a bang. Haha, what a spank! All in all, it’s quite a time. At the time of this writing, I’m not sure if anything is going on the weekend of this forthcoming, but if there is, he will be posted or you will be otherwise notified.

That’s all for now, but if you’d like to come over and see the house or meet the brothers, call 432-8440 for more information.

The Festival at TKE

PHI GAMMA PSI
We are both here again on this old familiar street. We have some important things to say for a change but those can wait till later. We don’t want to spoil you so fast.

SPORTS NEWS
The hegemons of Phi Psi finished a disappointing season with a lopsided loss to DKE. Percy had to watch it on TV at Lewiston General, as his left hip gave him a lot of trouble and they decided to report. However, the defeat didn’t get them down and they hit back together again. The Kilgore Knights, still muddled around the alumni and black hound, could easily beat better Millie’s phlegm, still refusing to语音. Greeks kept the team together, although, with only six men forming a large block, we were still looking for the first win in three years. I feel sorry for the term that has the distinction of leading us.

SOCIAL
Yes, we are social, Phi Psi in every official capacity and have that potential of potential new members to come over and shoot the duck. After the hunt they came a few hours with the brothers. WEDNESDAY WINE & WHISKY is a look for the next week. Tomorrow afternoon, the club will be held. The Party that made Lionel Lemonos. Memos to the Foster Thieves: Who are you? Try to add to your family. Your conduct can be narrated as one word, MESS! If this were to come to my attention that the brothers mentioned, as the brothers always help in the coming of, so look and should stay D.K.E. keep your eyes. If you’re good friends with, then I want your cut. Now for some important things.

The Great Hall of Phi Gamma Psi

Tau Epsilon Phi
The brothers of Tau Epsilon Phi have just completed a very exciting and entertaining weekend. Our Friday night was a flopper worked out very well, and our annual musical production, "MAD MAN on WEDNESDAY," was a big success. The Zalas of affairs, the brothers are pleased to announce that our show will take place on April 7th & 8th, so if someone is interested call those calls in our show and the members have been selected. It is with the deepest regret that we must tell you, that we lost our season opener in volleyball to Kappa Sig, but we expect it to be our last.

Attending all functions: If anyone see someone tall with a stubble of beard, it’s a good thing that you’ve got some beautiful nascent beards, because you’re only good for 15 pushups.

Lastly, before the brighter days drain out on that one, keep writing, because we’re going to have a party on our own. It is to be our way to see you down at that one, and the club to keep on as in the room's news.

Your Spring Carnival
SKI TEAM COMES ON STRONG

At the outset of the season, the ski team bid bate some of their valuable racers. So in November the re-conditioning started for the new members and the veterans racers. The team worked out and trained at School from November until the time permitted them to take to the slopes; latter the real training started. Here the older racers taught the skill and styles to the new members of the team. So when the first meet came, on Jan. 27-28, the team was ready but the snow wasn’t. Two Giant Slalom races and one slalom race were cancelled until Feb. 3. This was the first race of the season. Here the lack of racing experience came out and the skill of veterans was a great help to the younger team. Mike McGlinchey was chosen. At this race, McGlinchey had the fastest time of the day, thus giving the team 4th place overall. The next couple of races were not the best. At Gunstock Mountain, on Feb. 10-11, the team could only make 8th place in the slalom and 5th place in the Giant Slalom. The next meet at Maple Valley (Hy) Feb. 17-18 resulted much the same; 7th place in the Giant Slalom and 6th place in the slalom.

At this point in the season, there was a change in the team. The previous racers had given some of the newer racers some good experience and had sharpened up the older racers. When the next meet came, the team was ready to make their comeback. On Feb. 24-25 at Berkshire East (Ma.) it all started. In the slalom, Mike McGlinchey, Mark Askan, and Paul Askan all turned in good runs—coming in 2, 12, and 18 respectively. This gave the team 3rd place. In the Giant Slalom Mike and Mark with the help of Frank Alexander, coming in 15th, tied up 3rd place again. From Mars, the team was off to Woodstock, Vermont to race at Suicide Ski. The snow was wet and the course was hard, but there things started to go wrong. One of the lexers on the team, Harry Boyd had an accident while warming up and ended up with broken ankle and one cast. Even with this against the team, great results were turned in by Mike McGlinchey, Terry Hummer, and Mark Askan and 2nd place was captured. Then another accident befell the team. Terry Hummer wired out and cut the tendons leading to his hand, putting him out of commission. With two racers out of the lineup, the Sunday Giant Slalom was the scene for the comeback. After all the runs had Lowell Tech’s rooms Mike McGlinchey, Mark Askan, Frank Alexander, Paul Askan, Bob Hatcher, Steve Waven, and Eric Schindler had come up with the right combination of talent and skill to win 1st place. This season on the whole was the best, but next season, if the end of this season is any kind of preview, will be a winning one.

LACROSSE

The outlook on tomorrow’s season seems to be pretty good. Coach Carrow and his team with a little bit of luck, could be the first winning team in Lowell Tech’s history to have a winning season. The team has had a period of 3-4 last year, but have gone a few returning Americans. Sports will play an important role in this season as Tech may lack depth in this juniper. The returning members of last year’s team shows quite a bit of promise. The experiences many of the players gained should be put to good use in their bid for a winning season. On attack, Coach Carrow will have newcomers Owen Donahue, Todd Kepinski, Kevin Gonsolus, Bill BUYER, and Randy Davis, Dean Reid, and Chris Fowler (Schenectady) could be making strong bids for starting positions. At midfield will be Henry Meier, Greg Kepinski, Bob Lally, Paul Emile, and Chancy Rainbolt. These players quite a bit last season and should have some experience to show for it. Other midfield men will be Jim Coker, Terry Zbroski, and Pat Corrado (Honorable). At defense, Tech will have newcomers Paul Gonsolus, John Reynolds, Jeff Cilady, John Swiec, and two freshmen, Mark Cunnick, and Harry Mansell. Mike McGlinchey will be back after a year’s suspension. Coach Paul Gonsolus was named “outstanding freshman” last year in the colonial division. The two

WRESTLING

Coach Ray Sparks was honored recently at the New England College. Coach Sparks was selected as Men’s Outstanding Coach College Wrestling during his coaching career. Congratulations should be extended to him for receiving such an honor.

The team was in action in the first standings of the New England College Division Championships. The TV teams tied for fifth with MIT. Coach Sparks and the team.

GYMNASTICS

The New England College Gymnastics Championships were held on March 3 in the Capitol Gym. The Finished third in Division II from a field of seven teams. Unit and Burlington finished first and second respectively.

Join Fuller placed third on the parallel bars for Tech’s only place. The Terriers scored a total of 113.7 points.

The season was financially disappoiting as the team had a 2-4 record. Considering three of the losses were by less than ten points, the record wasn’t that bad.

Coach Abramson can look forward to a good team next year with every returning man and a few good performers coming off of ligates. Good luck next year to Tech and the team.

March 12 thru March 19

Unity Week is now an annual event sponsored by the Sophomores and freshmen of Lowell Tech and Lowell State. Our only purpose is to promote friendship among people who should have been friends long ago. All students, faculty and administrators are cordially invited to attend all events.
