Faculty Has First Meeting

To start off on a comic note, it was reported that President O'Leary sent letters to parents of LSC students residing in the Student Union informing them they are not responsible for their welfare saying that the building is unsafe.

The new Faculty Chairman, Brenda Fleming, introduced President Olsen to address the Faculty. The President noted the rough road ahead for the Merger Planning Board and cited problems with additional earnings received by Faculty. Earnings in excess of base salary have been up to 9,000 dollars. These additional earnings are derived from teaching night school, summer sessions, and industrial programs. The problem with the legislators who is favoring such practices. The President said there are services for the Commonwealth and if they want them they should pay for them. He did advocate open disclosure of present policy to avert criticism from without and have a committee look into the policy relative to additional compensation for academic staff. After consideration the MFA Faculty Union was asked to look into the matter. The President also noted the 12 hr. teaching load for LSC Faculty as compared to 9-6 for LTI. He urged the MPP to keep the LTI system. The only other state college to have such a system is SMU.

Dave Koff, the President of the local chapter of MIA, the Mass. Society of Professors spoke on a few issues. He pointed out he agreement reached between the Administration, Faculty Union and Students to have students enter collective bargaining if and when Governance is negotiated and the problem of merit salary increases for Faculty. The sources of this type have been abolished by the legislature. The Union has taken step to look into this.

Yes, Dean '78 Is Oriented

The Class of 1978 was officially welcomed to Lowell Tech last week. A series of events were planned and all in all it turned out to be a very successful and interesting week, the result of many unforeseen circumstances. To start off the week, the freshmen were forced to walk around in a dark due to strategically placed information booths in the dormitories. The freshman were served their first meal in their new home away from home without having to wait in line for any substantial amount of time as compared to the monster lines which plagued the Class of 1977 last year. The first unforeseen circumstance that arose. Due to a failure of communication between Lowell and Atlanta, Monday night's movie "Executive Action" was not shown. It was announced over the public address systems in the dormitories, some 200 or so newcomers still managed to appear in front of Cumnock Hall in anticipation that the movie might be shown. A freshmen convocation was also scheduled for Monday night but due to the unforeseen problem it was rescheduled to Tuesday evening.

Many freshmen spent the rest of Monday night in their rooms but an adventurous few found the Rathskeller. They were the lucky ones for along with the periscopians, they drank and became merry utilizing the usual of the bar and the Boston-based rock group Crazy Mike and the Rhythm Method for this purpose. The Rathskeller was open from noon until an all night with Crazy Mike and his band providing the entertainment for the first four nights. Tuesday began with Dean King, Mr. Doherty, and several student leaders addressing the freshmen students.

In the afternoon the freshmen students were met in the SUB Cafeteria by their continuing counterparts for the first formal assembly of their class. The new united Class of 1978 heard Pres. Olsen, Dean King, Major Simmons, and several P.E. people and student leaders speak.

The class was then broken down into groups to be given a tour of the campus by the orientation committee. Due to inclement weather most of the groups headed for the lounger in the SUB or to the Rathskeller. After dinner an old-fashioned Square Dance was held in Cumnock Hall. Again, inclement weather intervened and the dance was sparsely attended. For the first time probably the last time in the history of Tech, the number of Tech girls outnumbered the number of Tech guys. A good time was had by all and many nitaled to the Rathskellar afterwards.

Wednesday morning saw the start of classes for upperclassmen and the registration of the freshmen. An all-day P.E. on the aquatic Tech resulted in the cancellation of Fun 'n Games. An alternative solution for many freshmen was the Rathskeller as they were noticed in attendance and indulging in a wide range of pursuits.

The freshmen began classes on Thursday and after a day of being run ragged from trying to find classrooms they were treated to the movie "The Owl and the Pussycat" in Cumnock Hall. Friday night was supposed to be an outdoor beer fest. I cannot tell you at this time whether or not it will be held or I am writing this last Thursday and the sky is threatening. It was held, I hope that you had fun.

The topping off point of the week was a comedy film festival held on Saturday in Cumnock Hall. The main feature was "Monkeys Business" by the Marx Brothers. Other films shown included Laurel & Hardy, Abbott & Costello, and various cartoons.

All in all it was very successful orientation week and I truly hope that the freshmen did as much last week as we did bringing it to them.
Food Services Regress?

When we speak of student services, we think, "Great! More of it! (top priority)!" It's a great idea and most people agree that more should be done for the students. We also know that these services can be fully neglected, that they remain that way unless the matter is given the consideration it deserves immediately.

Every opportunity at Tech has probably seen or known of Dr. Marty Zimnick, who worked nine hours per week (plus overtime) last year and prided himself on the fact that he never came back to his part-time service at Tech's infirmary. Tech students have written letters for a doctor now for a year and a half. Mr. Charlie Whitford, the school psychologist who has an office in the SUB continues his non-permanent job on a part-time basis. Two afternoons per week, he serves the student body.

Part of our student services include resident advisors, a vital and necessary part of the learning community. Yet, in these positions we find graduate students with academic commitments already. There appears to be a grandiose appearance in the replacement when these grad students leave and no visible actions to increase the size of a professional staff. It is surprising to note that the people who get hurt most by this deficiency, when an R.A. is unavailable, is other hardworking, inarticulate, but eager to help, or how (or a professor's) job yet is this what we need in our halls?

Student services may never seem quite adequate; yet if we don't do something to press this matter now, it may go neglected through the budgetary. One of our prior concerns for students of Lowell University has been to increase services in these areas. Everyone already knows it; we just have to do something about it.

This administration must be the matter proper consideration which is not yet received. If student services aren't given high priority, we are only waiting for a crisis to happen — that we won't be able to handle.

Student Senate Takes Over Bar:

RATHSKELLAR INC.

The takeover of the Rathskellar by the Lowell Tech Student Senate is close to reality with the formation of the Lowell Student Union Rathskellar Inc. This corporation, organized and incorporated during August of this year in the process of taking over all aspects of operation of the bar and snack bar in the SUB. The target date for beginning of operations is by the end of October. The corporation is wholly controlled by student affairs. The Board of Directors will be elected by the student body and a board of directors has already been given. Students have been eagerly awaiting the day on which a substantial amount of their student body is not going to be a part of the Rathskellar Inc.

The current operations of the Rathskellar Inc. will be run by the board of directors and the student senate. The student senate will be responsible for all aspects of the Rathskellar Inc., including the operations of the bar, the snack bar, and the operation of the Rathskellar Inc. The student senate will also be responsible for the management of the Rathskellar Inc., including the hiring of employees and the payment of wages. The student senate will also be responsible for the development of the Rathskellar Inc., including the building of new Rathskellar Inc. The student senate will also be responsible for the financial management of the Rathskellar Inc., including the budgeting of funds and the determination of prices.

I am writing this letter with a vengeance in me. I am writing over the fact that the only things changed in this year's meal plan were the increased price and the elimination of seconds on the main course.

As last year's Food Committee Chairman, I left this school for the summer break thinking we would have a non-mandatory meal plan, and a choice between the options of eating either breakfast or lunch with dinner. But, when I received my bill for the meal plan this summer, I found we were forced to pay for breakfast and dinner whether we ate it or not.

We (the F.C.) had been lied too, used, criticized, and just plain had much of our time wasted by people involved in this catering situation. Well, to quote the Who, "We Won't Get Fooled Again."

To explain the situation here, you must realize that this school is all politics. "You scratch my back, I'll scratch yours." Needless to say the caterer has many back scratchers, excuse me, I mean friends, just waiting to get their itchy palms on the caterers influential paper back.

It seems the only way you can get anywhere with these people is to threaten them in some way. Otherwise they'll just disregard you. What is needed to get a fair meal plan is your support. So DON'T be afraid to take matters into your own hands. You all must register your complaints on the heads of the people who forced us into this again.

From what I understand, the people responsible for sticking us with this outrageous meal plan are all the members of the Building Authority (except Cyril Bournil and John Cusey) along with Ernest Kaknes (our caterer), and President Olen.

So, if you have anything to say let these people know. They deserve it! Believe me, if we let this go, things will only get worse. Be prepared to stand up and join all of us when we protest this detestable situation.

permanent members of the Directors. The three other student members will be elected from within the Senate by Senate members. Two administrators and two faculty make up the remaining four members of the Directors.

The corporation is a non-profit tax exempt organization which will not divide any assets or net earnings among its directors or officers or any private individual. Also the corporation cannot use its assets to lobby for legislation or participate in a political campaign of any candidate for public office.

The Building Authority has notified the L.S.U. Rathskellar Corp. that it will collect rent for use of the Rathskellar and Snack Bar areas in the form of a percentage of gross receipts. The range being discussed is between 8 and 20%.

The organization's goal is to be a large source of student-oriented businesses on campus.

ATTENTION SENIORS

In about nine months you will be sitting on the athletic field waiting to get a piece of paper stating that you have graduated the halls of LSU. Now...as commencement draws near, you will be busy with the hassle of parenthood and the hard, cruel world of reality. You, seniors, are the lucky individuals who must see and listen to this person. Knowing this don't you think that you should have some say in the major decision.

Well, you can. Just take a small piece of paper and write down the matters of the speakers (you would like to see) to the person. For example some suggestions are Bob Hope, Dick Cusack, and Eli Richmond.

The deadline for all suggestions is Sept. 13 (this Friday) so don't delay. There will be a petition of all those speakers suggested and hopefully run to you within the following week.

Send all suggestions to Marianne Messana

Vandalism By A Sorority

Dear Editor,

Last week was the height of the season for the sororities here at Tech. Hell Week or Help Week, whatever you want to call it started, and ended on a bad note.

On Friday night, a sorority I am in, made a harmless, quiet raid on the other sorority on campus. We didn't do any damage to anyone's property. Our prank consisted of toilet papering their cars and the trees at their camp site. As everyone knows the only job here, involves cleaning the paper up.

Well, later that night, the sorority we had done the prank to did one better on us. The damage they did to us mounted to well over $100.00. These people managed to put an acid based shaving cream on nine cars belonging to us. All except two of these cars were newer than 1976, and one was brand new. Any one with half an ounce of brain, should know that shaving cream removes the finish off any car. Also, in the course of their raid they managed to crash a window with a water balloon. I am a Senior here at Tech, and out of the three years I have been here, I have never heard of any group doing so much damage to another organization on campus.

In the past, this sorority has demanded payment for damages done to them by fraternities during their Hell Weeks. But, we have asked none... Only that they pay for the cracked window.

My only wish is to inform them that shaving cream damages the finish on a car, and that such practice in the future to someone not so kind as us, may result in serious trouble to the sorority.

The Falling of a President

On the 6th day of September, at approximately 3:20 the falling of a president took place. It was a sad event as more of transportation was also destroyed.

This president was walking the revered halls of L.T.I. when he came upon another famous personage of L.T.I. named N.Y.E. The prez said he would give the N.Y.E. a ride back to his residence and the N.Y.E. (not hardly lazy) accepted.

Now the first sitting took place on the textile bridge. At this point the N.Y.E. decided to walk the rest of the way back to his dorm. But when he got to the end of the bridge, he turned back and said that he would try again, to hop on. So again the N.Y.E. took 260 life in his hands and got aboard. Midway between the next bridge the pres said "I'll bet you work the brakes." No sooner were the words out of his mouth that the pres rode his mode of transportation into the concrete curb, spilling both himself and the N.Y.E. to the ground. As a result Super Civil now has a bicycle that has two bent forks and a bent wheel, and the N.Y.E. has a torn sock and a crummy book. Thankfully his calculator was not harmed.

Now as in all stories there is a moral to them. MORAL: Never trust a president no matter who he says he can serve, for no sooner than he starts steering, does the person whom he is steering fall off. (There is a lesson to all of this somewhere, but I'll be darned if I can find it.)

Career Counseling and Placement

Attention, Seniors! The Office of Career Counseling and Placement is organizing its beds for the upcoming recruiting season. However, we need your help now! Please stop by our office at your earliest convenience and complete the registration form for seniors planning to use the office's services. Our office location is on the Alumni Library Building, through the Emma Hall entrance. Office hours are Monday through Friday, 8:30 AM to 5:00 PM.

In recruiting with the Placement Office, you will receive a copy of our Fall '74 Placement Manual which contains useful information about reference letters, transcripts, credentials, and any other questions you may have. In addition, it includes three samples of resumes and a sample letter of transmittal when corresponding with companies individually.

Please note that any students who wish to take interviews during the 74-75 academic year must register with the Office of Career Counseling and Placement. Help us by coming in early so that you can register for interviews. Interviews begin on October 7.

We look forward to working with you during this recruiting season.

Club K

Circle K

Fellow Students,

Circle K is back and on the move. Circle K is a student organization for people interested in being a full part of the life of the school and the community. Throughout the United States and Canada, we live up to our Circle K motto: "We build." Circle K provides the student with an opportunity for leadership training in service and for the student to develop aggressive citizenship and the spirit of service for improvement of all human relationships.

Some of our projects this semester will include running a disadvantaged youth organization and the Community and a Special "Thank-You" Team at the 3rd Annual Thanksgiving for the elderly. We hope you will get involved and assist us in our efforts.

Your friend through Circle K,

Denis D. Viscardi, President

Pick Out

The main purpose of this article is to tell the yearly新生 about "Pick Out." Please join the pickout. Besides taking a bit of time, work and mental energy, it can be fun. So if you have worked on a high school yearbook or never got the chance now's the time to become a member of a pretty active group on the campus of LTI.

We're in the market for photographers, typists, layout designers, editors (who can prepare the final page), typists, sports fanatics, typists, literary people (i.e., people with a flair for writing but not at least typists).

Rip-Off Lowell Tech

And so another year at LTI slowly draws to its annual close. "There is neither deliverance, nor hope" College is more than just an education. It is an experience. To gain all the benefits which this college has to offer, you must involve yourself, or yourself, not only with the activities of school but with the numerous activities happening daily on campus. A quick glance through the LTI catalog will give the student a good insight into the various clubs, service organizations, fraternities, sororities, and sports activities which play an equally important role in a student's career at college.

Many students have a "Duck doesn't invest" attitude here at Tech. They allow four of their most rewarding years in life pass by without taking an active role in the total college scene. So, during the last few weeks, make the choice between either being an active student around campus or joining the many seniors who are afraid to "GET INVOLVED."

Linen Rules and Regulations

1) All linen will be given out on Wednesday nights from 5PM-7PM. Please note the change from Tuesday nights in previous years.
2) Students residing in Totten Hall, Bourgeois Hall, or the Towers will pick up linen at the linen room in the basement of Bourgeois Hall from 5PM-7PM. No linen will be given out in the Towers. Students residing in Smith Hall, Francis Hall, or the Annexes will pick up linen in the basement of Smith Hall from 4:45-7:00PM on Wednesday nights.
3) When returning linen, please keep the towels separate from the sheets and pillow case.
4) No student will be given a full package of linen if linen are missing from the returning linen. Replications will only be made with the forms returned.
5) Absolutely no linen will be given out to a student who does not have the Telephone Company of its lawful charges.
6) We bring the contents of these lines by your attention in the hope that you, in turn, would make this information available to the student body, perhaps through this editorial campus newspaper.
7) We are further hopeful that the publication of the above facts may prove a deterrent in the event any campus newspaper contemplated the publishing of such an article.
8) We are not desirous of prosecuting any student that should an editor authorize the publication of our credit and borrowing and lending system, we would have no alternative but to seek redress through the courts.

Dear Dean,

In the recent past, several college newspapers have published the numberless and vexing system which is used in the business of telephone credit cards. The Massachusetts Legislature passed a law which became effective on March 7, 1974, which imposes certain penalties for publishing credit card numbers or coding systems. There is also a State Law which states that no person shall defraud or attempt to defraud the Telephone Company of its lawful charges.

We are bringing the contents of these lines to your attention in the hope that you, in turn, would make this information available to the student body, perhaps through this editorial campus newspaper.

We are further hopeful that the publication of the above facts may prove a deterrent in the event any campus newspaper contemplated the publishing of such an article.

We are not desirous of prosecuting any student that should an editor authorize the publication of our credit and borrowing and lending system, we would have no alternative but to seek redress through the courts.

Your U1 Student Senate convened its first meeting of the academic year last Thursday in the Senate Chambers (SU 6), with President John Delaney presiding. Senate Committee Chairman Doug Dang advocated the Senate of the appearance of S. W. A. N. A. on Tuesday, with the possibility of booking the Beach Boys later in the semester.

Star Trek fans and science enthusiasts will be crowded to a visit from Gene Roddenberry, creator of the new television series. It will be given a presentation later in October. (more details later). The appropriation of $1760 was approved.

The financial report showed a bond balance of $492,713, each on hand, with approximately $1500 allocated funds from the Student Activity Fee. In other financial sections, $250 was allocated for various room additions. The general room will be opened on a 13 room to a 13 mid-week basis. 7 days a week for the first semester. Room of the games are in a state of disrepair, and the room will not be opened until the situation is corrected. However, anyone wishing to work in the room should contact Mr. Davis in the Frisch Hall office starting today. The pay is $2.00 per hour.

A report on the overcrowded was that for the second year running the first eight film for freshmen had to arrive and they were showing up at Cumnock Hall were granted by hocked doors.

The Harper Planning Board representative reviewed summer session and the unanimous decision of the Board (excepting LIT & LSC reps) to set the tuition of $100 for in-state students and $700 for out of state students. This needs the final approval of the new EU Board of Trustees. Staring any catastrophic rate of student protest and perhaps be aside of it, this interested will go through.

Students Gain Entrance to Collective Bargaining on Governance

An agreement was reached during the summer between the Faculty Union, the Administration and student leaders to allow for student participation in the collective bargaining area of Governance. In the agreement, the student side withdrew the invitation filed late April to stop negotiations between the Board of Trustees and the MFA Faculty Union which had negotiated with a smaller and several which excluded students from the bargaining process. The agreement itself is an open to the actions of Governance the make-up of the Institute Council, which the students choses by policy making body of the Institute.

With the students withdrawing the invitation and recognizing that the proposed Faculty Union contract is negotiations of employer and employee and the Student body not a party under the present statutes, the students are allowed to sit five students in the negotiations during all negotiations of College Governance. The students who agreed to sit are designd to include the collective bargaining process.

There has been reliance in Administration part to exaggerate Governance. Administration facts govern- ment is not a condition of employment and need only be negotiated under mutual consent of employer and employees. However, the larger percentage of State Colleges having Faculty Contracts have negotiated Governance. The Union viewpoint is the Institute Council is a policy making body and there the condition of employment of Faculty members. Subsequent Student viewpoint not the Institute Council does effect Student curriculum and status within the U1 community and any negotiations on this subject should include students.

Library Exhibit:
Leonardo da Vinci Attends Tech

The exhibition of the 15th Century master inventor's work features his inventories and gadgets that he called the "flying machines" and other developments that did not take practical form until modern times.

Models in the Lowell Tech exhibit include both painted and theoretical devices. Among them are a pubic toilet tank, an idea that was not utilized, a Popeye Croc of a dish for determining the water strength of a vessel, information essential to the engineer five centuries ago, as it is today.

The exhibit runs through September and consists of an aerial screw helicopter powered by three men and a flying machine designed to be activated by the inventor. The primary design includes a triple tier machine gun with white tail firing, the second being loaded, and the third cocking. There is a scaling ladder similar to the Library's own and an ascending tank. The picture is at all directions. It is complete in its design and driven by men working the enclosed wheel with the handle.

The scientific instruments on display are a hyperbrometer, an inclinometer, and an accelerometer.

Davison's artwork displayed on first floor of library

While viewing these, please keep in mind the era when they were designed.

The first set of models of Leonardo's work constructed in contemporary times was built in 1938 for The World's Fair. It traveled briefly, and during World War II it was stored temporarily.

Another group of models, built in the United States, will tour this summer as part of an exhibition program. The models displayed at Lowell Tech are accompanied by panels of explanatory material and sketches reproduced from the notebooks of Leonardo da Vinci.

The unique L.T.'s exhibit will be open to the public weekdays from 9:30 am through 5:30 pm. Area schools interested in viewing the display with their students, or other large groups, should contact Jan Battarave at the Library for further information.

Hey, remember when it seemed like music could do anything? Well, at least anything? Remember when you used to treasure an album for its good times and its inspirations? Well, best believed, there's an album for you, the most spectacular, most magnificent, and most, Big Sox.

With the most brilliant production of Jack Douglas and Bob Friel, with songs old and new, and with the tightest performance the group has ever done, Sha Na Na have come through with a smash hit in a gigantic jump in melody and sophistication. Yes, on the powerful mountain of classic rock. Sha Na Na has climbed far into the essence of the Seventies.

All it takes is one listen to the first cut, "Maybe I'm Old Fashioned," also cut as a single. Jocko's drums and Chico on bass lay down the back beat, the melody soars freely, the harmonies change in rich and full sound. The violin makes the song eerie 400 miles.

Now, Hot Sox gets into the swing of the same name, performed in a style only a mother could love. With every mother's child's pocket book ball will by the incredible Bowser. Bowser's conversion reveals a whole new way of dressing, namely, you guessed it, "Hot Sox." (I want them to be worn in the street! Everyone says I have such stinky feet.)

But if you think the group has abandoned all for computer music, try such songs as "Sh-Boom," "Having My Baby," "You Talk Too Much," you will realize why the S & A are the granddaddies of it all. The truth and reality of classic rock.

Then, of course, there are the songs by the Sh a-themselves: "Hot Sox." was penned by Scott Powell, "Too Much to Be Grateful" is Jocko's fabulous piece to the weight-watchers rock 'n' roll. ("Well, I went out one, the dance floor / I went to sh a-bean / But when I went to shake it now, These wasn't enough room... Too sh a-bean to dance.")

Jocko and Scott Simon have teamed up for "Snell All Night." While Flickerbach Dennis Green's beautiful ballad "Dreams Come True" closes the LP in a "Sh oh hot"

So whether your tastes for the hot or for the cool, for the classic rockers or for Seventies' production wizardry, for humor or for pure punk power — and however you cut it, you'll have a fantastic time — it's time for your turn in to Hot Sox. The dance album of the Seventies. Yip, keep the beat with your stinky feet!
