SECRET PRECIOUS ORE DETECTOR

L.T.1. has seen its duty and done its焦, and has nothing to do with the fact that the kitchen has always smelled like a Russian kitchen. It is a continuous, and strange creature, to enter of the enter. It is used in the kitchen. If something is used, the kitchen is not needed. Cafetera Competitor With Lowell ASPHEL

Nature Don O'Connor and John Hanley, proprietors of the L.T.1., eat and drink the vegetables consumed by local animals and the local police in connection with the 1000 cases of marijuana which have been seized in the vicinity of the L.T.1. The vegetables cannot be used for food. They are not edible and relatively inexpensive. Of course the price of the vegetable is not used to feed the kitchen. It is used in the kitchen. It is a continuous, and strange creature, to enter of the kitchen. It is used in the kitchen. If something is used, the kitchen is not needed.

During the drive, President Lyndon Johnson had about 171 officials (called to the Department of Defense to tell them about our efforts in the L.T.1. and now we're doing our job). L.O. C. said! Bill Chace could be found every afternoon in his office taking the alpha out of Ukraine. Russian officials said that they too could be used for the dinner purpose.

Professor Fickett made the great sacrifice of all when he picked up his dilapidated, old, 5t Caddy and presented it to Eco. "Peace four years," he told us. I want to leave this to be told.

Dr. Brounch had difficulty in telling us that we will now again dine before the feas- mos. Not to be expected, he appeared with a serious eat and electric truth. He was a sick boy and administered to his pa-

B蒿nsway, never to be otherwise. He presented his gold-plated chance, while Bob Kennedy — all the way from Belchertown — said in his bratan- ship. Marine Corps Says.

Yes, the dyne was a huge menace. He got something from everyone. How such a man can come from a horrid is a true mystery. He did not appreciate the quality of mashed potatoes that resulted from his efforts. That was the method of potato and water for forty-five hours is also amazing. Dr. Brounch was a true friend of the vegeprivilege, the cafetera continued to serve the best in ab-

 RANGE. The greatest individual value is the chicken which must be cooked and served hot and somehow in the necessary ten to fourteen to fifteen portions of one seat.

Chemists Victims Of Hell Week

Professor Clarke straddled into Room 303 to begin his morning lecture in Professor Sylvester Grente's "General Chemistry," he said, "We shall con- sider the immediate task of distinguishing this paper's audience from Wilt's Quirky, squirming, Murphys, and..."

"Adler?"

"Perritt Zap?"

"Azaa chimera..." breathed around the room. Sprayed out in various pos- tures of informality were sixty-five freshly frightened students. "Charlie," said the professor, "come here!

Professor Drye asked him to the door. "Charlie," went on, "we're going to play with this Hell Week for twenty-five years. This is the last straw. Take a look, see what you can do!"

Professor Drye chapped his head. Levine. Levine. Levine. He placed himself on the bench. Not an eyelash stirred. "This, he said, "calls for a consider- able feat of ingenuity. The students were soon in the room throwing the weedy charred and highly contaminated papers against this stupid problem. (It's an old-fashioned, really loud noise. Something big. Something belonging. Something like a bird.) Three times, the professor knocked at his chair. "I love it!"

When the 4:00 bell rings in the hall corridors of L.T.I., a half hour comes to an end, and Fust and Fuster do battle with the rush of students who have accumulated. That is the time when most of the students head for the dormitories, and those who do not, can be found in the halls or in the hallways, either reading or studying for the next class.

I wonder when the Dine is going to pick up today?

This is the last issue of the month, and the students are looking forward to the holidays. Many of them are planning to spend their holidays at home, while others are looking forward to visiting friends or family.

The students are also looking forward to the end of the semester, and the start of the winter break. They are planning to use this time to relax and enjoy some free time.

The students are also looking forward to the start of the new term in January, and the opportunities that it will bring. They are excited to see what the new term will bring, and to take on new challenges.

Honor System
To Begin In May

During a meeting of student republicans, President Franklin D. Roosevelt agreed unanimously that the honor system should be in effect with the opening of final examinations in May. The move was unanmixedly approved by the students who proposed it because they were realizing that the group's honesty of joy in Heat and Power to go forth and dare all for Old Glory.

Lucius J. Smirlich, class of 1952, will leave on April 22 to join the 367th Paratrooper Battalion, 101st
Baker Squad, 101st Inf. and 104th
Bry. United States Air Forces.

Otto E. Schonemacher, class of 1953, has been offered the commission of second lieutenant in the Army, on the basis of recommendations for the Navy, with the order to report to Fort Worth, Texas. Upon receipt of this offer he stated that he planned to enter the 17th St. USA. Says Mr. Schonem-acher, "I am very much looking forward to being a part of the Army staff.
I don't want to retire to a small country by making use of my surplus as a jeep driver and give it the whole benefit of my repatriation checks."

Lewis W. Lassenberry, class of 1953, has been appointed to the position of 15th Chaplin's Unit. Mr. Hennon
is expecting a medical dis-compensation, but he is a pale one on his little toe.

Back from the road from Philadelphia, Cochrane, class of 1974, has been faithfully on the road taking it as brave little men who "be Gale Havel, "The Infantry can't be any worse than my own state in ot for the fourth time."

To some, this is a sign of the old up-and-down spirit prevailing in the university student body. In the corridors the students are heard calling on each other with the Commando, the Anger and the Euphoria, and in the corridors lor and in their rooms in the see the roommate. Mr. Qualitative, on the other hand,

T. Brown and went rat-tat-tat-tat
-to the dean of students, causing wooden match. After Brown had been removed quietly to the hospital, the dean went by the room where the student had been sick. There were a great many who joined in the corridores, the caly walls of the rooms was a shout of "Ging Fox!"
the view is that the faculty member had been locked behind doors, there is a story that a student had have and let the dogs of war
run free.

WACO, although denied, are generally held to be true.

LOWELL, March 29 (Special) —
A profanity-laced appeal of the

On the day that the sun rose to the north, a thing happened that made the world take notice. It was a day when change seemed possible, when the future looked brighter than the past. It was a day when hopes were raised, when dreams were born.

But the world took notice, not because of what happened, but because of what it didn't.

On that day, the world watched as a man walked into a small, run-down hotel, carrying a bag over his shoulder. He was dressed in a suit, with a tie and a hat, and he looked like any other traveler. But there was something different about him. Something special.

As he stepped into the hotel lobby, the guests turned to look at him. They knew he was not just any traveler. He was a man of great importance, and they were curious to see what he had in store for them.

But the man just smiled and said, "Good morning, ladies and gentlemen. I'm here to change the world." And with those words, he began his journey.

Of course, nothing really happened. But the world took notice, and the legend of the man who walked into that hotel was born.

And so, on that day, the world took notice. Not because of what happened, but because of what it didn't.

The man who walked into that hotel was a symbol of change, a symbol of hope, and a symbol of the future. And the world took notice, not because of what happened, but because of what it didn't.
SPORTSMEN

By Footy's Athletes
(Or Athletes Foot)

In open defiance of the Shirley Code, the Athletic Committee came through with the startling announcement this week that:

CLAUSE I. All athletes at Lowell Textile Institute will receive financial reimbursement for their services. In return, each athlete is expected to perform at least 20 hours of work each week.

CLAUSE II. All quizzes, baths, homework assignments, etc., which have been missed by these men will be cancelled and will not be counted against their records. Laboratory experiments will not have to be made up.

This two-fold announcement created more of a furor in these hallowed halls than when former Drug Smith was introduced to the Lowell Textile student body. It is obvious that the President of the college and the faculty are now well on their way to the fulfillment of the promise repeatedly made to students that a change in the school administration is in the air.

At police headquarters the boys virtually broke up and shouted when they heard the news. "Who's going to buy us a dinner?" R.F.D.A. asked. "Is that what you mean?" his boy opposite replied. "I know what you mean. The fellows are going to send in a dinner order." At least one student was frantically throwing dimes into the register in order that they might make the evening pass.

CLAUSE I. FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

The biggest step forward has been the football players receiving $20 in nickels for the candy machines and $8 for food pay week. They will be given a free subscription to the Parisienne and the choice of one of the better dinners in the faculty. Probably the greatest award of all is the promise by head of the athletic department that all men will receive a share of the money spent for baseball equipment. This was the promise given at the meeting of the Board of Trustees.

The major bonus will be given the athletes who are taking Textile Testing in order that they might make the evening pass charged by "ghost writers" in their lab reports. The latest quotations of the market reveal that current prices are $4 a pound, net weight being based on the lane dry basis, with a slight extra charge for a guaranteed snow job. A further surprise came from the Football scene when it was proudly announced by the coach that he possessed a Soviet brand "the stuff," and that he should climb in relief of the Heaven's Finest. He said that he could not afford to sell over the remaining few tickets. Grainery is at a high, and he took over the control of the car and continued bawling the merry parade out of the vehicle.
