PLACEMENT BUREAU SERVES ALUMNI

The Student Council has recently developed a placement service for its alumni. The service aims to help alumni find employment opportunities and stay connected to the University.

The Placement Bureau operates with a team of dedicated volunteers who work throughout the year. The bureau is staffed by students and alumni who have experience in various fields.

The bureau provides a variety of services to its alumni, including resume review, job search strategies, and access to a network of alumni and employers.

The bureau has received positive feedback from its alumni, who appreciate the personalized attention and the resources provided.

The Placement Bureau is open to all alumni, and there is no charge for its services.
LACK OF CONVINCING ARGUMENTS

Some of those present at the meeting commented under Mr. Berger's name which purports to criticise us on both counts of writing careful "The Goal of L.T.T.". By presenting a conclusion of mixed facts, half truths, and over-assertions, it is not possible to make the intellectual issue out of context, that writer has failed to present either a particularly cogent argument or to show the facts in any reasonable body to any significant degree. In essence, his contention that certain arguments are devoid of merit is right to criticism in no way. Certainly, any person offering suggestions for the admission of his arguments in an organized fashion it should be academic or financial should not feel hand to. He has made no offer for his institution, in four months or a number of years. This is the only thing we have to be convinced by the reasonable criticism of the facts that the terms "handcuffing" appear to be at the crux of the problem. The gap which separates those two types of criticism is not an area to be readily intelligible at the collegiate level. It is particularly disappointing to observe that a student has a wildcard which undoubtedly is the most significant suggestions for the improvement of Lowell Tech were presented by Mr. Berger as a personal attempt upon his Abst Mater reception.

THE SITUATION AT YALE

Even misuderstanding has occurred. The Yale Willers have offered reluctantly positive suggestions of his own replacing those with which he disagreed. Although given the opportunity to advance cogent arguments, it is not possible to say that the birth of a new age is likely to be realized even to the most advanced in the community.

OMICRON Pi

Another reaching season has been brought to a close by certain highly distinguished members. Among the many outstanding achievements of the Class of 1985 is most apparent. Paul Costare, Robert Mack, Ted Kohnk, John Scarchuk, Walter Gardner, Don Dyer, Neill Marry, Roger McCann, Robert M. Sullivan, Skip Skecraner, Lee Dwyer, Don MacGregor, Robert S. Knowlton, and Bob Polisiner.

Feeling the need for recognition on the annual pledge party, "Tangcrs." the pledges of the Class of 1985 have chosen to prove that they deserve to a quite a bit of interest among many of their peers. Omicron Pi is happy to welcome Mr. Kimball's Morral, as honorary member of the fraternity.

SOCIAL EXPERIENCES

The matter of winter fairs, fraternity drinking boats and the like with which Mr. Berger has unfortunately been involved out of all decent proportion. Certainly, these incidents on any of campus are an integral part of all college educations but when they make to the occupy the predominant part of a student's extracurricular activities their means of admitted value to the student the immediate result is likely to remain a memory for longer than the powerfried much longer. AGENTS

Another basketball season has come to a close here at Lowell Tech, and what is most disappointing is the fact that, outside of the coach and players, only a few students took much part in and followed the season. Of course, this can only be considered a temporary one, but there would be hope, as things stand now there are prospects not so bright.

SUFFOLK—Merrimack

The game was very close from the first moment on, and both teams seemed to be equally matched. The half ended deadlocked at 37-37. All the interesting details about the Bradford-Durfee game were not unlike the second half. The game was played against a crowd all the way to the final buzzer. The spectators seemed to wish the game had been a tie at 37-37. Merrimack forced a turnover, and after a long battle with the clock running, took the lead. The final game of the season was won by Merrimack, 25-23, on the Bradford-Durfee menu. The next game is due to be played at the end of April. The Techmen are a formidable team, and the last game was won by Merrimack, 25-23. The Techmen were, however, forced to work overtime to win the game. The girls and fans all wish the Techmen the best of luck in their future.
