SEN. MCCARTHY QUESTIONS SIX MORE WITNESSES TODAY

General Electric Workers Are Scheduled to Appear

Traveling Investigating Committee Starts
Second Day of Hearings on Mass. Communists

BOSTON, Jan. 16, (AP)—Some half dozen witnesses were scheduled to appear today before Sen. Joseph McCarthy's traveling investigating committee today as the Wisconsin Republican's current probe of suspected Communists in Massachusetts entered its second day.

McCarthy hinted last night that the witnesses would be General Electric workers. Ten GE employees testified yesterday at a closed session and McCarthy later told newsmen that four of them invoked the Fifth Amendment when asked questions concerning Communism.

Two members of the Harvard University faculty testified yesterday in the committee's probe of suspected Communists in Massachusetts. Both admitted being former members of the Communist party but both invoked their Fifth Amendment privilege when asked to name their associates in the party.

Dr. C. E. Perry

McCarthy said he planned to depose at least two more witnesses to the Mass. hearings and he has set hearing for ten GE employees to appear today. Four of them invoked the Fifth Amendment when asked questions concerning Communism.

Of his refusal to name names, Perry said: "I am not seeking to protect myself from prosecution. I shall merely do what I think the utmost possible penalty, the innocent from persecution." He was asked if he was ever asked to name members of the Communist party—"a frequent target of the McCarthy probe," and Louis E. C. Clark at a saw it was unless. I Kenon, a $200 a year research assistant.

The 47-year-old physics professor said that he was one of a half dozen employees of the radar project at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology during World War II. He said he had been a member of the Communist party in Massachusetts.

Mrs. Cameron B. Furry was also a member of the Communist party in Massachusetts. She had been a member of the Communist party in Massachusetts.

McCarthy hinted yesterday that he planned to ask the committee to consider contempt citations against physics Prof. Wendell Furry—a frequent target of the McCarthy probe—and Leon J. Kamin, a $3200 a year research assistant.

The 47-year-old Furry testified that he was one of a half dozen employees of the radar project at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology during World War II. He said he had been a member of the Communist party in Massachusetts.

In a prepared statement, he said his refusal to name his Communist associates was his duty because "I do not think that my duty to my country requires me to become a political informer." He also said that he was asked to name associates yesterday afternoon, and "I do not think that my duty to my country requires me to become a political informer."

Of his refusal to name names, Furry said: "I am not seeking to protect myself from prosecution. I shall merely do what I think the utmost possible penalty, the innocent from persecution." He was asked if he was ever asked to name members of the Communist party—"a frequent target of the McCarthy probe," and Louis E. C. Clark at a saw it was unless. I Kenon, a $200 a year research assistant.
