Paul R. Foisé, speakers; George Normandin, publicity; Leo D. Gaumont, entertainment; Leo R. Mongeau, reception; Henri Archambault, transportation, and Dr. Raymond J. Gendreau, chairman of the committee in charge of distinguished guests.

The principal speaker will be Professor Paul LeRoy Grizuau, professor of French literature and civilization at the University of New Hampshire. President Albert L. Bourgeois has received the gift of a copy of the Continental Sentinel, published in Boston in 1824 and containing an account of Gen. Lafayette's last visit to Boston. It is the gift of Miss Adelaide Baker, former head of the French department at Lowell high school. This paper, properly framed, will be presented to the Lafayette club tonight as will be a copy of the act providing for the proclamation of Lafayette day by the governor and the quill with which the act was signed by Governor Curley.
